SLEEK, STREAMLINED apparatus of the present Kingston Fire Department had its forerunner in the piece of equipment (above) which was used to fight fires in the 1880's. It is on display at Bev Anderson Chevrolet, 731 Broadway.

An engine ordered from England in 1754 did not arrive until 1757, and village properties were fought by bucket brigades in the interim. The new engine was destroyed by fire in 1778 when the English put the torch to the Village of Kingston.

After village incorporation in 1895, the department was increased and the Exempt Firemen's Association of the City of Kingston was organized in 1890 and incorporated in 1891.

The Common Council on August 12, 1892, adopted a resolution transferring the custody of the hand fire engine, known as the Washington fire engine to the Exempt Firemen's Association.

Tribute Paid To All Groups

Local participation in the nation's Operation Alert in which 59 major cities were smashed by mock atomic attack, including Washington, sending the President and his Cabinet fleeing to a mountain hideout, was highly praised today by Kingston-Ulster Civil Defense Council officials and others.

The nation counted approximately five million dead in the surprise attack by enemy planes which dropped both hydrogen and atomic bombs on the nation's key cities. The city of Washington was reduced to "radioactive ash and debris."

THE THEORETICAL exercise assumed that a fierce full scale attack on the continental United States and its outlying territories delivered a near-saturation bombing on major cities, causing fearful casualties and damage from blast effect and radiation. The attack reached its peak of intensity in New York city. The total of all casualties in New York state, including New York city, was assumed to be 5,693,899, including 3,567,000 dead.

The Civil Defense organization in Kingston and throughout the county was busy through most of the night receiving and processing messages and coping imaginatively with gigantic "paper" problems involved in Operation Alert.

THE CITY of Kingston received its Yellow Alert, indicating that enemy planes were approaching, at 12:08 p. m. yesterday. At 2:09 p. m. the Red Alert, indicating that the planes had reached their targets, was received at Civil Defense Headquarters, city hall, and the alarm

FIRE CHIEF JOSEPH L. MURPHY

Dedication to duty characterizes the 53-year firemanics career of Chief Joseph L. Murphy of the Kingston Fire Department who will retire June 30. The 200th anniversary of the department, climaxed this weekend by the 66th annual convention of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association salutes New York state's outstanding fire chief, a salute in which the city and area volunteers take justifiable pride.

Senator Cites 'Foolish' Retirement Law; Memorial Service Held for Dead

Tributes to Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kingston who is retiring July 1 after more than 30 years as chief highlighted the opening session of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association's 66th annual convention here this morning.

State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, in a welcoming address, described Chief Murphy as "one of the grandest men I have ever known in firemanic circles. I don't know of a man more devoted to his duty than Joe Murphy has been."

POINTING OUT that Murphy must retire under an age limit law, Senator Wicks described the law as "a foolish law." Senator Wicks said "I don't know of any man more active mentally or physically than Chief Murphy."

Of the volunteer fire service Senator Wicks said the sacrifice of time, money and energy for the protection of life and property is an act of very fine citizenship.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang, who also was scheduled for an address, was unable to be present as he is attending the mayor's conference in Buffalo. Chief Murphy told the firemen that the mayor has asked him to welcome them to the city on his behalf.

CHIEF MURPHY paid tribute to all with whom he has served. The chief said he is leaving his office happily and that he enjoyed wonderful cooperation throughout the years.

All Peron Leaders Are Ousted

Church Orders Drastic Move

Vatican City, June 16 (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church has excommunicated all persons connected with the expulsion of Bishop Manuel Tato from Argentina. The penalty evidently applies to President Juan D. Peron and to leading members of his government.

The measure taken by the church's Consistorial Congregation was announced today in O'Osservatore Romano. The communique said:

"ALL THOSE who have committed such crimes, be they those who ordered that such be committed, whatever rank they hold, and the necessary accomplices . . . have incurred excommunication 'in latae sententiae' (in its widest sense.)"

The notice was signed by Adeodato Giovanni Cardinal Piazza, secretary of the Holy Congregation, and was dated today.

Excommunication deprives a Roman Catholic of the church's Sacraments. It is one of the church's gravest weapons against its foes.

BISHOP TATO is auxiliary bishop of the Buenos Aires archdiocese of the church. He and his associate, Msgr. Ramon Pablo Novoa, were directed aboard a Rome-bound plane in Buenos Aires yesterday, with the government declaring they were responsible for promoting disorders last weekend between supporters of the church and supporters of the Peron regime. They were en route here today to report to Pope Pius XII.

Roman Catholicism is the state religion of Argentina, and all presidents of the country must be Catholics. But Peron is moving to change this status, and in a series of actions has sought to reduce the power of

Torpedo Blast Sinks Sub

Portland England, June 16 (AP)—The Royal Navy Submarine Sidon blew up and sank in Portland harbor today. Thirteen men were feared lost.

The Admiralty announced seven other crewman were injured slightly.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT said it was not possible to express any firm opinion on "chances of survival of those who had not got clear" before the Sidon sank in 35 feet of water.

Rear Adm. G. B. Fawkes, submarine flag officer, told newsmen the blast occurred in the Sidon's torpedo department. The British Press Assn. said it was learned unofficially a practice torpedo exploded and tore out the craft's forward section.

EXTENT of internal damage to the submarine was not known.

Every available salvage and lifting vessel steamed toward the big naval base at Portland to try to lift the sub. Immediately after she sank, a mooring ship came alongside and threw a wire around her stern.

Rear Adm. G. B. H. Fawkes, commander of Britain's submarines, flew from Portsmouth to direct the salvage and rescue operation.

Maritime Talks With Firms Fail

New York, June 16 (AP)—A work stoppage by members of four seamen unions hit American ships in east coast and gulf ports today and threatened the travel plans of thousands of Europe-bound vacationists.

Tie-up of half the nation's merchant fleet threatened if a solution of the contract dispute with shipping lines was not resolved.

These were the first swift developments in the shutdown that started at midnight following breakdown of negotiations:

In New York, where work halted on 30 cargo ships, a mass meeting of 3,500 members of the CIO National Maritime Union shouted approval of their traditional "no contract, no work" policy. A union spokesman said an official strike vote would be taken "soon." The NMU is the biggest union involved.

IN PHILADELPHIA, an NMU spokesman said the union was letting crews on three cargo vessels and two oil tankers remain aboard the docked vessels and work, but not to move the ves-

Second Shots Are Slated Tuesday For Volunteers

Beginning Tuesday morning children of the Kingston city school system who participated in the 1954 Salk polio vaccine test and who received the "dummy" shots at that time will be given their second shot.

Dr. Dudley W. Hargreave, Ulster county commissioner of health, said today that there was not sufficient vaccine to give every child in the city a second shot and it had been decided to use the available serum for those children who cooperated in the control test last year and did not get the actual serum. They have already received the first shot this year.

Fire, CD Radio Cost Announced

Companies Are To Make Study

A proposal for a private mobile radio system for Fire Mutual Aid in Ulster county has been submitted by the New York Telephone Company and has been transmitted by the board of supervisors two-way radio committee to the fire companies affected for study.

The system would involve an initial cost of $16,607.25, including selective control of sirens for Mutual Aid or a cost of $23,462.25 if control of sirens is supplied for both Fire Mutual Aid and Civil Defense.

The monthly charge for operation would be $1,711.50 divided between the county and towns in an equitably distributed manner in proportion to the service rendered.

IN SUBMITTING the proposal to the supervisors for distribution to the fire companies for their reaction on the proposition, the committee which includes Supervisors Joseph Fitzsimmons, C. Robert Cousins, Burton Marshall and Edward R. Eckert, believe that the plan warrants serious consideration since the New York Telephone Company has the "know how" and dependability which would be required for installation, operation and maintenance of such a system.

The committee also believes that since the sheriff's office, County Highway Department and Civil Defense of Ulster county is now contemplating the use of mobile radio service, the two projects could be incorporated and housed in the same base stations and thus be eligible for matching funds under the Federal Civil Defense Act.

For the past several years the board of supervisors has been seriously entertaining requests for a two-way radio

$150,000 Blaze Razes Warehouse In Port Jervis

Port Jervis, N. Y., June 16 (AP)—A $150,000 fire destroyed a large warehouse in this city's business district yesterday and the flames gutted two adjacent residences and damaged three small business buildings.

Firemen from three states fought the windswept blaze and brought it under control in two hours. The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

THE WAREHOUSE contained clothing owned by the H. M. Knitting Mills and electrical equipment owned by the Techniflex Corp.

The business buildings housed a bar and grill, a barber shop and an electrician's shop.

Seven volunteer fire companies from Port Jervis were joined by volunteer firefighters from Montague, N. J., two other nearby New York villages, and fire companies from the Pennsylvania towns of Milford, Matamoras and Westfall.

One fireman suffered a broken leg.

U.S. to Arrange Return Of 21 Collaborators

Emergency Press Headquarters, Operation Alert, June 16 (AP)—The Government announced today it will arrange the return home of any of the 21 American war prisoners who chose to stay in Communist China after the Korean War, but who now have changed their minds.

However, the White House, and the State, Defense and Justice Departments warned in a joint statement that any who do come back to the United States will be held accountable "for any wrongful act" they may have committed.

The government announcement said "the military departments will instruct their field commands that if any of the 21 presents himself to military authorities as an American desiring return to the jurisdiction of the United States, he will be turned over to the custody of the nearest United States consular representative."

THE STATE DEPARTMENT, it went on, will instruct its representative that "immediately upon making contact with any of these persons they would inform him that in event of return to the United States he, of course, would be subject to the laws of

City Offices Are To Close Saturday

Offices and departments in the city hall will remain closed Saturday to permit city-employed personnel to participate in or view the parade of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association.

The convention and parade of the association are the first to be held in this city since 1928, Mayor Frederick H. Stang noted in arranging for full time off Saturday, and he considered the event worthy of the holiday.

The mayor, members of the Common Council, other city officials and employes of various offices and departments are scheduled to participate in the parade.

IBM Grows 12 Per Cent Yearly

Firm, Opportunity Synonymous: Cullen

Opportunities for advancement and promotion in IBM were outlined to members of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce, Inc., at its annual installation banquet at Leherb's last nigh by Gavin A. Cullen, manager of Kingston IBM.

Cullen said the most appropriate subject, when he had been asked to address the Junior Chamber, had appeared to him to be "Opportunity," that to him, as a result of his long association with IBM, "the word 'opportunity' and IBM are synonymous. We believe we offer tremendous opportunities to men and women who desire to join an organization which offers the widest opportunities, not only for today, but for the future as well."

Jaycee officers for the ensuing year are John G. Doyle, president; Victor H. Bargar, vice-president; Chester B. Diffley, secretary; William F. Paulus, treasurer; Peter J. Kowalenko, Donald R. Lawson, Robert B. Scales and Seymour Werbalowsky, directors and Robert A. MacKinnon, state director.

Excerpts from Mr. Cullen's remarks follow:

"The fact that under the leadership of Mr. Thomas J. Watson our company has grown an average of 12 per cent every year since its founding in 1914, has given us a terrific challenge —to bring to our employes increased opportunities commensurate with our increased growth. This, I think, we have accomplished over the years, inasmuch as we anticipate the same general growth pattern as in the past, we believe we will continue to offer unlimited opportunities for men and women with ambition, initiative and character who enter the IBM corporation.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Every little while in this cock-eyed world we're living in, fast-moving events arrive at what the Ruminator terms "a juncture (or crisis) of human affairs."

We seem to have arived at one of those junctures in this month of June, 1955.

Internationally, the fast-moving event has been the new "peaceful tactics" of the Russians, in advance of the oncoming conferences in New York, Washington, San Francisco (UN Anniversary) — and finally at Geneva for the "summit talks."

Domestically, the twin-headed event is, of course, the boiling boom and the socialistic labor deals with General Motors and Ford.

When we are confronted with such extraordinary "junctures" it is necessary to break down our ruminations into the short-run view and the long-term outlook.

Suppose we consider the long-term prospects first.

IN APPRAISING the long-term outcome of the current Russian attitude, it doesn't seem to me that you necessarily have to decide whether the Reds are planning a Big Bluff to throw the western nations off guard. Notwithstanding the blood-stained history of Communist betrayals and broken agreements —which has taught the West to keep up its guard—it is my thoughtful guess (for what it's worth) that the current trend toward cracking the iron curtain can only benefit the long-term prospects. I cannot see how it can worsen the probabilities of the western nations' outlook improving in the years ahead.

You may say that instead of an improvement, it could lead to a World War as the Russian situation becomes (internally) progressively worse. Of course, war is always a possibility when nations are "enemies" and when one side gets so rotten internally that a conflict is the only alternative to a complete collapse. However, this it not so likely when the "other" side remains militarily powerful. The danger of war arises when the healthy nations have allowed themselves to become complacent and over-confident—and anti-military in their "psychology."

It is most significant, I think, that public psychology (in the United States, at least) still supports a strong military establishment as a deterrent to the Reds.

FROM THE STANDPOINT of the domestic juncture, which combines a fast-rolling boom with a new phase of labor-management relations, I should guess that here, too, the long, years-ahead look is quite "socially" optimistic. The long view is for more security and shorter working weeks for the average working man in industrial plants.

However, we also have to consider near-term prospects.

These extraordinary events (and many others connected with them) have to be absorbed, you might say, into our socio-economic system.

The international "juncture" is such that it may well result in sudden and unexpected shifts in public opinion. Hopes will be high one day, and turn sour the next. World peace is, of course, a great desire of all the "free" nations (and doubtless of the human beings within the Communist countries). Inasmuch as desires and opinions are translated into action, near-term socio-economic trends will fluctuate with the political developments between nations.

Thus one can expect cross-currents over coming months as the various conferences take place. Propaganda will play its part in keeping us confused, you may be sure.

Turning to the domestic scene, there would seem to be more than an even chance that the boom will run out of steam before long. Upward momentum has already slackened.

THE DEALS made by Ford and General Motors, with the CIO unions, are certain to cause consternation and worries among thousands of other businesses, particularly the small ones. The deals are socialistic in pattern, and follow the liberal trend which has been so marked.

Contrary to many comments you read, it is difficult to see where the Ford and GM agreements mean immediate renewed inflation. Perhaps selling prices of cars will be increased in next year's models, but even this is not predictable at the moment. Manufacturers realize that consumers may balk at further hikes in prices. The scheme does not put large additions in pay envelopes, as workers' increases will mainly go into the "job insurance" funds. (Highly socialistic, as all workers will contribute to the security of the few who may be laid off.) Costs of manufacturing will rise. In sum, over the near term the Ruminator's guess is that this "new deal" for labor is more bearish than bullish on business and markets.

Headache

Lakeview, Ore. (AP)—Centuries ago the Arabs and Turks cultivated Mediterranean sage as a remedy for aches and pains. Today this same sage is giving Lake county farmers a headache. The sage has taken over an estimated 200,000 acres of grass range land and is still spreading there as well as in other areas of Oregon, Washington and California. Range experts say the sage can be killed by spraying with 2, 4-D.

Bill Vukovich, twice victorious in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis, died in a tragic accident on Memorial Day weekend trying for an unprecedented third win in a row.

The news of Vukovich's fatal crash on the speedway filled radio listeners with horror. They mourned a popular hero.

Several hour later came the news of 368 deaths in other fatal auto crashes on the highway. But the absence of drama in these accidents—and the anonymity of the victims—produced no comparable sense of loss to the nation as a whole.

Bill Vukovich took a calculated risk when he stepped into his high-speed car. He was an expert driver and he knew the odds.

You and I might say he was foolish to take such chances. But just what chances did he take, as compared to those many so-called "pleasure" drivers take?

First, he was a fine driver. He had passed a rigorous examination of his skill and his physical condition before he was allowed on the track. His reflexes and coordination probably were far above average.

His car was tuned like a fine watch. Every mechanical part had been checked and rechecked. He would have changed tires twice had he finished the race.

The car was reinforced with rollover bars. He wore a crash helmet and safety belt.

His fellow drivers also were experts. They were all going one way. There was no cross traffic, no pedestrians, no narrow bridges, no turns, hills, no blinding lights and countless other hazards met in almost every mile of ordinary roadway.

And a glancing crash into a retaining wall at 120 m.p.h. does not develop the lethal force that a head-on collision does of two cars traveling 60.

How many highway drivers know as well as Vukovich did the hazards they may encounter? How many are as well equipped to cope with them?

So when you drive your car, think of Vukovich—not as a fast driver, but as a man who knew what he was up against and took calculated risks. Make sure you know what you are up against on the highway this weekend—and drive accordingly.

THE DIVIDING LINE

The youngsters who live in the West Eighties in New York City have recently started a miniature United Nations movement. At the public school in their neighborhood fifty-three ethnic groups are represented. Within such a variety of cultural heritages finding a common ground is sometimes difficult. But the children are trying to find and broaden that ground to include all the differences presented by their neighbors. They are trying to build a society that will not be divided by misunderstandings or by hostility.

When differences in backgrounds present the range they do in the West Eighties, it is largely a big city problem. But basically the problem is the same in all communities today. Large population shifts have bought not just "new people" to town, but have brought in people of other nationalities. Some people resent this and feel the newcomers are invaders.

In order to enter this country an immigrant must undergo rigid investigation and when his papers are in order he is assured that the authorities at least think he is worthy of entering American society. Too often though, an immigrant finds that simply because he is different he isn't wanted, isn't accepted.

Differences need not divide people. This is what we as a nation believe when we sign treaties, send money, men, medicine and technical aid to other nations. Indifference is what divides people.

Now that the issue of the guaranteed annual wage has been settled, for a time at least, why not some kind of a movement for a guaranteed daily parking place?

THE CURIOUS WHITE SAGA

On February 22, 1943, at 3:25 p. m., according to the Morgenthau diaries, a meeting was held at the Treasury at which Daniel Bell, Under Secretary, complained that he was being overloaded by work. Everybody was sympathetic, particularly Harry Dexter White, who agreed that Bell was doing too much. He made this point:

"I think so . . . I think definitely that that could be facilitated if it were clarified. Where the definite responsibility is not indicated there are always a good many who are not sure just what they have to do. I have never been wholly sure just how much I should initiate. . . ."

So the ball was batted about and it was agreed that something should be put on paper which would so reorganize the Treasury that the Secretary and his Under Secretary would be relieved of some of their burdens. White was to do the re-arranging of functions.

Out of this discussion came a letter dated February 25, 1943, which is almost illuminating as it turned over to Harry Dexter White authorities which made him the most powerful man in the Treasury:

"Effective this date, I would like you to take supervision over and assume full responsibility for Treasury's participation in all economic and financial matters (except matters pertaining to depository facilities, transfers of funds, and war expenditures) in connection with the operations of the Army and Navy and the civilian affairs in the foreign areas in which our armed forces are operating or are likely to operate. This will, of course, include general liaison with the State Department, Army and Navy, and other departments or agencies and representatives of foreign governments on these matters.

"In above connection, you will, of course, keep Under Secretary Bell advised with respect to all matters affecting gold, coins, coinage, currency, or rates of exchange. You will also consult with Mr. Paul or Mr. Luxford and Mr. Pehle in all matters which come within the jurisdiction of the Foreign Funds Control. OK—H. M., Jr."

Harry Dexter White thus came into an unusually powerful position in the government with direct relations with the State Department, the Army and the Navy.

The Treasury was, in the war years, in a position to knock down the currencies of other countries and White was particularly interested in the inflation in China and in reducing the value of the British pound beyond anything that the British Exchequer regarded as right. He was now in a position to pursue his course without the slightest regard to his superiors who would only hear of his conduct when the State Department complained.

White, who was now Assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury, gives the impression in the diaries of being in charge of organization, of distribution of work, of the man just below the Secretary of the Treasury. It is to be noted that according to the sworn testimony of J. Edgar Hoover, not to mention other sources, Harry Dexter White was serving the Russians. Hoover said in his testimony:

"From November 8, 1945, until July 24, 1946, seven communications went to the White House bearing on espionage activities, wherein Harry Dexter White's name was specifically mentioned.

"During that same period, 2 summaries on Soviet espionage activities went to the Treasury Department and 6 summaries went to the Attorney General on the same subject matter."

But we notice from the material in the Morgenthau diaries that White keeps moving forward until—and we can now fix the date—by February 25, 1943, he is the master of the Treasury in its most important war functions.

His next proposal is for a Bank for Reconstruction and Development of the United and Associated Nations and as one reads his Proposal for a United Nations Bank (mind you, this is in 1943), it is clear that if he were put in charge of this, he would be in absolute control of the economy of the world. He even proposes the establishment of a new international monetary unit, the Unitas, worth $10 U. S. currency in gold, against which the proposed bank was to issue notes.

The plan is a very complicated one, but this question arises: As the United States was at that time the chief possessor of gold in the world, and as the Unitas was to be backed by gold, was this a method of transferring our gold to an international bank?

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

GENTLENESS IN SURGERY

"Modern surgical technique is reaching a point of near mechanical perfection. The death rate has been lowered or nearly eliminated in many diseases which were formerly regarded as universally fatal. In the presence of such a picture, it would seem that the only advance to be made is slow, steady progress toward betterment of surgical procedure and result. I would contend, however, that there is one tremendous and sudden advance which is available to every surgeon and which may be had for the taking." (I am quoting Dr. Paul Williamson in The Canadian Medical Association Journal).

What is this great advance available for the taking? It is gentleness in surgery, the avoidance of injury to the patient from the operation itself. Dr. Williamson claims that this is not accomplished by the average surgeon.

He points out that injury during operation is usually caused by too much pulling and tugging, too much handling of tissues, and by tying sutures too tight. Fr example, if a muscle is overstretched in an athletic contest, it may cause severe aching pains which last for several days. Therefore it is not unreasonable to suppose that the overstretching of a muscle during an operation would cause the same thing. Bruising by undue pressure from retractors (instruments used to hold back the edges of a wound) or clamps is another small injury given the body in so many operations.

Dr. Williamson tells how his associates and he decided to do an ordinary removal of an appendix in as careful a manner as possible. "The first appendectomy we did this way nearly drove me wild. It seemed to take at least three days to remove the thing. The actual time was an hour and twenty minutes. The patient was a 21 year old girl with a swollen, pus-filled appendix. By evening she was sitting in a chair demanding food (she didn't get it) and the next morning she was in the hospital lobby talking a mile a minute when I arrived. On the fourth day after operation she refused to stay any longer and returned to her job as a theatre usher (against the doctor's advice) and on the seventh day went horseback riding (again against advice). During that first week I was more ill than she was. I could just see her intestines spilling out over the theatre floor. Nothing happened. Since then we have used this maddening gentleness routine in many operations. It takes planning and it takes almost superhuman patience, but it works."

"Dr. Williamson does not mean that this gentleness in surgery will cut down the death rate but he does feel that there are many minor injuries inflicted on patients during operations which could be avoided and that it is these minor injuries that make patients uncomfortable, cause delays in healing and lengthen their stay in hospital. It is felt that two things contribute toward these minor injuries during operation — custom (the fact that a certain operation is usually done in a certain way) and tension on the part of the surgeon who feels that speed in operating is always necessary, whereas with modern anesthetics, speed is not as important as it used to be.

Meeting the Problem---Head On

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, (NEA)—In spite of all the objections, American foreign aid programs roll on year after year.

Last year Congress ordered the Foreign Operations Administration liquidated as of June 30. But the U. S. Senate has now approved continuation of this spending under a new International Cooperation Administration in the State Department.

New funds of nearly three and a half billion dollars are authorized for next year. This is 800 million dollars more than was appropriated last year. It is some 17 million dollars more—for technical assistance—than President Eisenhower recommended to Congress.

The battle now moves over to the House of Representatives, where the usual opposition to foreign aid is expected.

It will be argued that aid to "neutrals" like India and maybe Yugoslavia, too, should be cut off.

It will be maintained that any country having trade with Iron Curtain countries should not get one nickle of aid so long as any Americans are held prisoner by Chinese Communists.

FIGURES WILL BE CITED that the foreign aid programs have eight billion dollars worth of carryover funds and that therefore no new appropriations are necessary.

It will be patriotically declared that no American ecoomic aid should be give nto build nomic aid should be given to build up the industrialization of foreign countries so that they will become competitors.

These principal arguments will be backed up by recommendations made in the latest task force report from Ex-President Herbert Hoover's Commission on government reorganization.

The Hoover report recommends savings of 360 million dollars on nonmilitary foreign aid for the coming fiscal year. This is a little over 20 per cent of the 1.7 billion dollars economic half of the foreign aid budget.

It is noteworthy that the Hoover task force recommends no cut at all in the military aid budget of 1.7 billion dollars.

Also, it does not recommend that the economic aid program be completely discontinued. It merely wants the program reorganized.

Just what all of the previous foreign aid reorganizations have cost the United States in the way of lost inertia and general confusion at home and abroad would be hard to measure.

GENERAL MARSHALL, as Secretary of State, thought foreign aid should be administered by his department. Congress wouldn't have it that way and set up an independent operation.

So after seven years of kicking the dog around under various names—ECA, MSA and FOA—the Eisenhower administration and the Hoover Commission recommended that the business be put back in the State Department kennel, to complete the walk around the block.

Secretary of States John Foster Dulles apparently isn't too keen to have this responsibility thrust upon him. John B. Hollister, designated as the new administrator of the program, hasn't revealed what his ideas on the subject are to be.

Anyway, it's their pup now. And what all this administrative juggling has accomplished is impossible to determine.

Friends of the foreign aid program maintain that it would have been far better to set a firm policy and then stick to it. This would have created more confidence in American intentions among the friendly countries being helped. It would also cause more consternation among potential enemies.

FOR AS FOR THE Hoover task force report declares, and as the majorities in Congress always conclude after they've held all the hearings, raised all the objections and had them beaten down:

". . . we believe that the government of the United States must continue economic assistance among certain free countries of the world in order to secure the maximum military security for ourselves and to take part in the advance of the living standard in the free world."

Incidentially, Gov. Harold E. Stassen, who ends his term as head of FOA when it goes out of business June 30, will apparently quit the field with flying colors.

Many people hooted when Governor Stassen last November proposed a little Marshall plan for free Asia.

When all the shouting was over, however, President Eisenhower had put this item in his foreign aid proogram and the Senate has now approved a 200 million dollar authorization to give it a start.

Oil Strike Averted

New York, June 16 (AP)—The Sinclair Oil Corp. and the CIO Oil Workers Union reached a new contract agreement early today, averting a threatened walkout by 10,000 workers across the nation. A joint company-union statement said the new pact, for one year and effective June 15, includes a general wage boost of 10 cents an hour plus substantial increases in sickness and accident benefits and other contract improvements. The wage raise will be retroactive to last March 1.

Today at 3-Power Conference

Steps for Ending Cold War Put Up to Russia

By DAVID LAWRENCE

This is the beginning of the greatest exploration that diplomacy has experienced in our times. With every earnestness and sincerity the foreign secretaries of Great Britain, France and the United States are seeking a way to peace.

In a few days, at San Francisco, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov will join the conversations which are to pave the way foor the big meeting "at the summit." But unless there is something tangible forthcoming at the four-power conference of the Foreign Ministers it is likely that the session to be participated in later by President Eisenhower, Marshal Bulganin of Soviet Russia, Premier Faure of France and Prime Minister Eden of Great Britain will be only a gesture of outward friendship without any real progress toward peace.

THERE IS NO secret about what the three western governments want. They want a secure peace and not a piece of paper with lofty language. To get a secure peace, there must be an end to war. This means there must be an end to the "cold war."

The "cold war" is world wide. The Soviet regime uses international communism to penetrate the territories of other countries and seeks the overthrow of governments as well as institutions. There can be no trust—no feeling of safety—while international communism is unrestrained.

Back in 1933 the Soviet government gave its solemn pledge to the United States government that it would refrain from imposing international communism within our borders. This promise has been repeatedly violated Recognition was extended on the basis of these Soviet pledges. America is back to the same fundamentals today.

SINCE 1945 Communist imperialism has spread its authority over many hundreds of millions of people and, although ten years have elapsed since hostilities ceased on the Western Front the Soviet has not been willing to declare the state of war at an end.

Instead, small countries like Poland and Czechoslovakia which were promised their independence have been onverted into Soviet colonies. Communist colonialism has robbed the people of their freedom and given them puppet governments controlled from Moscow with an elaborate military apparatus.

THE PRESS dispatches from Moscow say the Soviet government doesn't want to talk about the status of the satellite states and isn't anxious to discuss the problem of a reunified Germany. But how can there be a secure peace if there is a belt of undefended states across Eastern Europe through which the Red armies can march at any moment and threaten the peace of the Western countries?

These questions can be resolved without much trouble if the Soviet government really means to make peace in Europe. But if it's just a game—a maneuver to retain military control while at the same time offering to "relax tension"—then the attitude of the Soviet government will become transparently clear after a few exchanges of views.

IN THE PAST Mr. Molotov has usually been unwilling to make any substantial concessions on anything. He expects the other side to trade with him but he offers only a few crumbs—like the release of prisoners who ought never to have been kept in captivity so long anyway.

The eyes of the world are fixed on the forthcoming conferences with the Soviet and judging by the preparations which have been made thus far the United States, Great Britain and France are not going to adopt either a belligerent or a craven attitude, but will lay the facts on the table. Those facts tell the story of why there is a "cold war."

It's a simple story and an old one—the thirst for power by autocracy. This time it is tied into a fanatical ideology with a conspiracy that reaches around the globe. The Soviets can end the "cold war" because they started it. They know what is involved. And the whole world knows it, too. The Communists are on the spot, for they have claimed they want peace. They now have a chance to demonstrate their intentions by concrete evidence of a desire to withdraw their forces and their agents back to Soviet Russia and let the rest of the world alone.

Only then will peace be secure.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

"Juvenile delinquency" is a fake term used to pretend that young criminals are not criminals. It is a fact that these people got a very bad example from government, national and local, in the riotous actions of unions. They may reasonably plead that this criminal conduct under the patronage of the Roosevelt-Truman regime and local subsidiaries gave them an impression that they could get away with violent crime including wanton murder. However, notwithstanding psychiatric fakers, they all know that their crimes are crimes and they commit their crimes of their free will.

"Compulsion neurosis," another item in the jargon of the fakers, does not exist except in their jargon and in a small minority of these criminals who actually are crazy. If a young criminal actually is so crazy that he cannot refrain from kicking some person to death, he ought to be put away forever. Others should be killed by the state. The law-abiding majority of our people should not be required to continue the daily risk of attack or burglary by this very small minority who have no value whatever.

The newspapers hide most of the truth of such crimes. This is censorship in the general run of cases, but there are some acts so horrible that delicacy has been the motive for suppression of facts. A New York detective rounded up a group of absolutely worthless rogues who had ambushed a woman in a park and ruined her life by an all-night program of unspeakable crimes. His account is unprintable by present standards. They ought to be put to death, but wealthy organizations will defend them and probably get them out of prison after a few years. The Scottsboro "boys" included one specimen who waged a further career of crime after he was "vindicated." Anyone who takes credit to himself for that frustration of justice is very hard up for creditable achievement.

I may be deceived, but it appears to me that many of the teeners of this generation are much bigger than the average of, say, 30 years ago. Perhaps it was the spinach. Anyway, many of them are giants and when they organize into gangs and go storming through the streets they are a menace which should be met with plenty of force.

During World War 2 a colonel working at the Pentagon argued that I really ought to holler-up the army's desire for a mimimum draft age of 16 years. The army had its eye on strong, husky kids with the precious brashness of youth. Hitler was taking them and they were deadly in battle. The colonel came up with statistics shown that an enormous proportion of the Union Army in the War of Secession were only 16. There were many younger than that, too. It is embarassing to realize that we can draft boys fo fight who have not yet had a chance to vote, but of course we overvalue the individual's vote to a large extent. What loss would any citizen suffer from denial of a vote for a county judge who probably is a boozefighting bum chosen by the bosses of the two parties and the bums already on the bench?

Yet, a serious proposal to draft kids of 16 would arouse less protest than a proposal to get rid of young murderers permanently.

These kids do not recall the riots of the United Auto Workers and the steel workers which put down local government, including the government of Michigan, when Roosevelt was imposing union membership on millions of our workers. They were not yet born. Nevertheless, that is where they got their pattern, and they certainly do know about the crimes done in southern states last winter in the L and N Railroad strike and the telephone strike. They know the FBI could break some of those cases and that federal district attorneys could get convictions that would stick. But they also know that union criminals are privileged and they may "feel" that if union murderers and train-wreckers can get away with it, they have the same privilege.

In New York the police recently broke up two gangs of big kids, each wearing its uniform with insignia, as they were about to put on a war in a park. This is ominous, but the worst of it is that the CIO did exactly that in Detroit and other cities with Roosevelt's approval and by the treasonous connivance of Governor Frank Murphy who later was made attorney general and justice of a thoroughly degraded Supreme Court as his reward for his treachery. The UAW gangs wore uniform caps and their field combat leaders wore insignia of rank. They had combat posts of command, communications and intelligence. They were an insurrectionary army, mobbing citizens and usurping the power of government.

Twice on visits to Detroit in recent years I have studied many reels of movies of the UAW riots made by General Motors in those days. Those are terrible scenes. In New York, La Guardia disarmed the cops of their clubs and encouraged Communist rioters to defy them. Women rioters spat in their faces and the poor cops had to take it.

Roosevelt mockingly said the Michigan insurrections were only assault, malicious mischief and trespass multiplied an unknown number of times.

The motto of the New York cop used to be "treat 'em rough." It was a good system and it worked.

THE CURIOUS WHITE SAGA

But we notice from the material in the Morgenthau diaries that White keeps moving forward until—and we can now fix the date—by February 25, 1943, he is the master of the Treasury in its most important war functions.

His next proposal is for a Bank for Reconstruction and Development of the United and Associated Nations and as one reads his Proposal for a United Nations Bank (mind you, this is in 1943), it is clear that if he were put in charge of this, he would be in absolute control of the economy of the world. He even proposes the establishment of a new international monetary unit, the Unitas, worth $10 U. S. currency in gold, against which the proposed bank was to issue notes.

The plan is a very complicated one, but this question arises: As the United States was at that time the chief possessor of gold in the world, and as the Unitas was to be backed by gold, was this a method of transferring our gold to an international bank?

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

GENTLENESS IN SURGERY

"Modern surgical techpique is reaching a point of near mechanical perfection. The death rate has been lowered or nearly eliminated in many diseases which were formerly regarded as universally fatal. In the presence of such a picture, it would seem that the only advance to be made is slow, steady progress toward betterment of surgical procedure and result. I would contend, however, that there is one tremendous and sudden advance which is available to every surgeon and which may be had for the taking." (I am quoting Dr. Paul Williamson in The Canadian Medical Association Journal).

What is this great advance available for the taking? It is gentleness in surgery, the avoidance of injury to the patient from the operation itself. Dr. Williamson claims that this is not accomplished by the average surgeon.

He points out that injury during operation is usually caused by too much pulling and tugging, too much handling of tissues, and by tying sutures too tight. Fr example, if a muscle is overstretched in an athletic contest, it may cause severe aching pains which last for several days. Therefore it is not unreasonable to suppose that the overstretching of a muscle during an operation would cause the same thing. Bruising by undue pressure from retractors (instruments used to hold back the edges of a wound) or clamps is another small injury given the body in so many operations.

Dr. Williamson tells how his associates and he decided to do an ordinary removal of an appendix in as careful a manner as possible. "The first appendectomy we did this way nearly drove me wild. It seemed to take at least three days to remove the thing. The actual time was an hour and twenty minutes. The patient was a 21 year old girl with a swollen, pus-filled appendix. By evening she was sitting in a chair demanding food (she didn't get it) and the next morning she was in the hospital lobby talking a mile a minute when I arrived. On the fourth day after operation she refused to stay any longer and returned to her job as a theatre usher (against the doctor's advice) and on the seventh day went horseback riding (again against advice). During that first week I was more ill than she was. I could just see her intestines spilling out over the theatre floor. Nothing happened. Since then we have used this maddening gentleness routine in many operations. It takes planning and it takes almost superhuman patience, but it works."

"Dr. Williamson does not mean that this gentleness in surgery will cut down the death rate but he does feel that there are many minor injuries inflicted on patients during operations which could be avoided and that it is these minor injuries that make patients uncomfortable, cause delays in healing and lengthen their stay in hospital. It is felt that two things contribute toward these minor injuries during operation — custom (the fact that a certain operation is usually done in a certain way) and tension on the part of the surgeon who feels that speed in operating is always necessary, whereas with modern anesthetics, speed is not as important as it used to be.

Liquid, Soft, and Light Diets

It is often useful to know which foods to use in certain diets for convalescents. Meeting the Problem---Head On

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, (NEA)—In spite of all the objections, American foreign aid programs roll on year after year.

Last year Congress ordered the Foreign Operations Administration liquidated as of June 30. But the U. S. Senate has now approved continuation of this spending under a new International Cooperation Administration in the State Department.

New funds of nearly three and a half billion dollars are authorized for next year. This is 800 million dollars more than was appropriated last year. It is some 17 million dollars more—for technical assistance—than President Eisenhower recommended to Congress.

The battle now moves over to the House of Representatives, where the usual opposition to foreign aid is expected.

It will be argued that aid to "neutrals" like India and maybe Yugoslavia, too, should be cut off.

It will be maintained that any country having trade with Iron Curtain countries should not get one nickle of aid so long as any Americans are held prisoner by Chinese Communists.

FIGURES WILL BE CITED that the foreign aid programs have eight billion dollars worth of carryover funds and that therefore no new appropriations are necessary.

It will be patriotically declared that no American ecomic aid should be give nto build nomic aid should be given to build up the industrialization of foreign countries so that they will become competitors.

These principal arguments will be backed up by recommendations made in the latest task force report from Ex-President Herbert Hoover's Commission on government reorganization.

The Hoover report recommends savings of 360 million dollars on nonmilitary foreign aid for the coming fiscal year. This is a little over 20 per cent of the 1.7 billion dollars economic half of the foreign aid budget.

It is noteworthy that the Hoover task force recommends no cut at all in the military aid budget of 1.7 billion dollars.

Also, it does not recommend that the economic aid program be completely discontinued. It merely wants the program reorganized.

Just what all of the previous foreign aid reorganizations have cost the United States in the way of lost inertia and general confusion at home and abroad would be hard to measure.

GENERAL MARSHALL, as Secretary of State, thought foreign aid should be administered by his department. Congress wouldn't have it that way and set up an independent operation.

So after seven years of kicking the dog around under various names—ECA, MSA and FOA—the Eisenhower administration and the Hoover Commission recommended that the business be put back in the State Department kennel, to complete the walk around the block.

Secretary of States John Foster Dulles apparently isn't too keen to have this responsibility thrust upon him. John B. Hollister, designated as the new administrator of the program, hasn't revealed what his ideas on the subject are to be.

Anyway, it's their pup now. And what all this administrative juggling has accomplished is impossible to determine.

Friends of the foreign aid program maintain that it would have been far better to set a firm policy and then stick to it. This would have created more confidence in American intentions among the friendly countries being helped. It would also cause more consternation among potential enemies.

FOR AS FOR THE Hoover task force report declares, and as the majorities in Congress always conclude after they've held all the hearings, raised all the objections and had them beaten down:

". . . we believe that the government of the United States must continue economic assistance among certain free countries of the world in order to secure the maximum military security for ourselves and to take part in the advance of the living standard in the free world."

Incidentially, Gov. Harold E. Stassen, who ends his term as head of FOA when it goes out of business June 30, will apparently quit the field with flying colors.

Many people hooted when Governor Stassen last November proposed a little Marshall plan for free Asia.

When all the shouting was over, however, President Eisenhower had put this item in his foreign aid proogram and the Senate has now approved a 200 million dollar authorization to give it a start.

Oil Strike Averted

New York, June 16 (AP)—The Sinclair Oil Corp. and the CIO Oil Workers Union reached a new contract agreement early today, averting a threatened walkout by 10,000 workers across the nation. A joint company-union statement said the new pact, for one year and effective June 15, includes a general wage boost of 10 cents an hour plus substantial increases in sickness and accident benefits and other contract improvements. The wage raise will be retroactive to last March 1.

Today at 3-Power Conference

Steps for Ending Cold War Put Up to Russia

By DAVID LAWRENCE

This is the beginning of the greatest exploration that diplomacy has experienced in our times. With every earnestness and sincerity the foreign secretaries of Great Britain, France and the United States are seeking a way to peace.

In a few days, at San Francisco, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov will join the conversations which are to pave the way foor the big meeting "at the summit." But unless there is something tangible forthcoming at the four-power conference of the Foreign Ministers it is likely that the session to be participated in later by President Eisenhower, Marshal Bulganin of Soviet Russia, Premier Faure of France and Prime Minister Eden of Great Britain will be only a gesture of outward friendship without any real progress toward peace.

THERE IS NO secret about what the three western governments want. They want a secure peace and not a piece of paper with lofty language. To get a secure peace, there must be an end to war. This means there must be an end to the "cold war."

The "cold war" is world wide. The Soviet regime uses international communism to penetrate the territories of other countries and seeks the overthrow of governments as well as institutions. There can be no trust—no feeling of safety—while international communism is unrestrained.

Back in 1933 the Soviet government gave its solemn pledge to the United States government that it would refrain from imposing international communism within our borders. This promise has been repeatedly violated Recognition was extended on the basis of these Soviet pledges. America is back to the same fundamentals today.

SINCE 1945 Communist imperialism has spread its authority over many hundreds of millions of people and, although ten years have elapsed since hostilities ceased on the Western Front the Soviet has not been willing to declare the state of war at an end.

Instead, small countries like Poland and Czechoslovakia which were promised their independence have been onverted into Soviet colonies. Communist colonialism has robbed the people of their freedom and given them puppet governments controlled from Moscow with an elaborate military apparatus.

THE PRESS dispatches from Moscow say the Soviet government doesn't want to talk about the status of the satellite states and isn't anxious to discuss the problem of a reunified Germany. But how can there be a secure peace if there is a belt of undefended states across Eastern Europe through which the Red armies can march at any moment and threaten the peace of the Western countries?

These questions can be resolved without much trouble if the Soviet government really means to make peace in Europe. But if it's just a game—a maneuver to retain military control while at the same time offering to "relax tension"—then the attitude of the Soviet government will become transparently clear after a few exchanges of views.

IN THE PAST Mr. Molotov has usually been unwilling to make any substantial concessions on anything. He expects the other side to trade with him but he offers only a few crumbs—like the release of prisoners who ought never to have been kept in captivity so long anyway.

The eyes of the world are fixed on the forthcoming conferences with the Soviet and judging by the preparations which have been made thus far the United States, Great Britain and France are not going to adopt either a belligerent or a craven attitude, but will lay the facts on the table. Those facts tell the story of why there is a "cold war."

It's a simple story and an old one—the thirst for power by autocracy. This time it is tied into a fanatical ideology with a conspiracy that reaches around the globe. The Soviets can end the "cold war" because they started it. They know what is involved. And the whole world knows it, too. The Communists are on the spot, for they have claimed they want peace. They now have a chance to demonstrate their intentions by concrete evidence of a desire to withdraw their forces and their agents back to Soviet Russia and let the rest of the world alone.

Only then will peace be secure.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

"Juvenile delinquency" is a fake term used to pretend that young criminals are not criminals. It is a fact that these people got a very bad example from government, national and local, in the riotous actions of unions. They may reasonably plead that this criminal conduct under the patronage of the Roosevelt-Truman regime and local subsidiaries gave them an impression that they could get away with violent crime including wanton murder. However, notwithstanding psychiatric fakers, they all know that their crimes are crimes and they commit their crimes of their free will.

"Compulsion neurosis," another item in the jargon of the fakers, does not exist except in their jargon and in a small minority of these criminals who actually are crazy. If a young criminal actually is so crazy that he cannot refrain from kicking some person to death, he ought to be put away forever. Others should be killed by the state. The law-abiding majority of our people should not be required to continue the daily risk of attack or burglary by this very small minority who have no value whatever.

The newspapers hide most of the truth of such crimes. This is censorship in the general run of cases, but there are some acts so horrible that delicacy has been the motive for suppression of facts. A New York detective rounded up a group of absolutely worthless rogues who had ambushed a woman in a park and ruined her life by an all-night program of unspeakable crimes. His account is unprintable by present standards. They ought to be put to death, but wealthy organizations will defend them and probably get them out of prison after a few years. The Scottsboro "boys" included one specimen who waged a further career of crime after he was "vindicated." Anyone who takes credit to himself for that frustration of justice is very hard up for creditable achievement.

I may be deceived, but it appears to me that many of the teeners of this generation are much bigger than the average of, say, 30 years ago. Perhaps it was the spinach. Anyway, many of them are giants and when they organize into gangs and go storming through the streets they are a menace which should be met with plenty of force.

During World War 2 a colonel working at the Pentagon argued that I really ought to holler-up the army's desire for a mimimum draft age of 16 years. The army had its eye on strong, husky kids with the precious brashness of youth. Hitler was taking them and they were deadly in battle. The colonel came up with statistics shown that an enormous proportion of the Union Army in the War of Secession were only 16. There were many younger than that, too. It is embarassing to realize that we can draft boys to fight who have not yet had a chance to vote, but of course we overvalue the individual's vote to a large extent. What loss would any citizen suffer from denial of a vote for a county judge who probably is a boozefighting bum chosen by the bosses of the two parties and the bums already on the bench?

Yet, a serious proposal to draft kids of 16 would arouse less protest than a proposal to get rid of young murderers permanently.

These kids do not recall the riots of the United Auto Workers and the steel workers which put down local government, including the government of Michigan, when Roosevelt was imposing union membership on millions of our workers. They were not yet born. Nevertheless, that is where they got their pattern, and they certainly do know about the crimes done in southern states last winter in the L and N Railroad strike and the telephone strike. They know the FBI could break some of those cases and that federal district attorneys could get convictions that would stick. But they also know that union criminals are privileged and they may "feel" that if union murderers and train-wreckers can get away with it, they have the same privilege.

In New York the police recently broke up two gangs of big kids, each wearing its uniform with insignia, as they were about to put on a war in a park. This is ominous, but the worst of it is that the CIO did exactly that in Detroit and other cities with Roosevelt's approval and by the treasonous connivance of Governor Frank Murphy who later was made attorney general and justice of a thoroughly degraded Supreme Court as his reward for his treachery. The UAW gangs wore uniform caps and their field combat leaders wore insignia of rank. They had combat posts of command, communications and intelligence. They were an insurrectionary army, mobbing citizens and usurping the power of government.

Twice on visits to Detroit in recent years I have studied many reels of movies of the UAW riots made by General Motors in those days. Those are terrible scenes. In New York, La Guardia disarmed the cops of their clubs and encouraged Communist rioters to defy them. Women rioters spat in their faces and the poor cops had to take it.

Roosevelt mockingly said the Michigan insurrections were only assault, malicious mischief and trespass multiplied an unknown number of times.

The motto of the New York cop used to be "treat 'em rough." It was a good system and it worked.

Bill to Remedy Classification

Confusion of Old Postal System to Go

(Editor's note—In addition to granting postal workers a salary increase, a new bill signed by the President provides for a new system of job classification—the most exhausting job reorganization in the history of the Post Office Department. Here's how it works.)

By BEM PRICE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Washington, June 16 (AP) — With a stamp of approval from Congress, Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield is out to lick an old pay problem.

A new bill signed into law by President Eisenhower, provides for annual pay increases ranging from $160 to $4,400 and for a new system of classifying postal workers.

EVER SINCE he took over as postmaster general in 1953, Summerfield has been trying to do something about the Post Office Department's pay system. Employes were paid by title instead of by job and there was no incentive pay.

In fact, across-the-board salary increases granted by Congress from time to time so narrowed pay gaps between jobs that in some instances a postmaster made only five times as much as the janitor in the same post office. He would normally be expected to make eight to ten times as much.

A RESEARCH firm hired by Summerfield early in 1954 studied 29 post offices, scattered from New York to Kansas, and discovered they included 92 different pay ranges and rates, a situation made to order for confusion.

Under the new law pay ranges are reduced to 20 in the entire postal service and 49 job classifications fall within those ranges.

Under the old plan the title "clerk" could cover a multitude of jobs—everything from a file clerk to a skilled distributor of mail, a job which requires a phenomenal memory.

IN SETTING up the 49 classifications in the postal field service, the department specifies basic function, duties and responsibilities. The post office has never before had such an exhaustive system of classifying work by job description.

Further, the new bill provides for automatic stepups in salary over a seven-year period provided an employe has performed 52 weeks of satisfactory service.

The salary scale under the new plan ranges from $2,870 and moves upward over seven years at a rate of $100 a year. The top salary—grade 20—is $14,800 and provides no annual increases.

Congress estimates that the new pay scales will add 164 million dollars annually to the cost of operating the Post Office Department.

In some jobs the Summerfield plans call for lower starting salaries than are paid currently but Congress has decreed that no person could be cut below his present wage rate.

EVER SINCE he took over as postmaster general in 1953, Summerfield has been trying to do something about the Post Office Department's pay system. Employes were paid by title instead of by job and there was no incentive pay.

In fact, across-the-board salary increases granted by Congress from time to time so narrowed pay gaps between jobs that in some instances a postmaster made only five times as much as the janitor in the same post office. He would normally be expected to make eight to ten times as much.

A RESEARCH firm hired by Summerfield early in 1954 studied 29 post offices, scattered from New York to Kansas, and discovered they included 92 different pay ranges and rates, a situation made to order for confusion.

Under the new law pay ranges are reduced to 20 in the entire postal service and 49 job classifications fall within those ranges.

Under the old plan the title "clerk" could cover a multitude of jobs—everything from a file clerk to a skilled distributor of mail, a job which requires a phenomenal memory.

IN SETTING up the 49 classifications in the postal field service, the department specifies basic function, duties and responsibilities. The post office has never before had such an exhaustive system of classifying work by job description.

Further, the new bill provides for automatic stepups in salary over a seven-year period provided an employe has performed 52 weeks of satisfactory service.

The salary scale under the new plan ranges from $2,870 and moves upward over seven years at a rate of $100 a year. The top salary—grade 20—is $14,800 and provides no annual increases.

Congress estimates that the new pay scales will add 164 million dollars annually to the cost of operating the Post Office Department.

In some jobs the Summerfield plans call for lower starting salaries than are paid currently but Congress has decreed that no person could be cut below his present wage rate.

MAY FORM NEW PACK—The possibility of the formation of a new Cub Pack was revealed today when it was learned that the St. James Methodist Church, sponsor of Boy Scout Troop 11 and Explorer Post 11, has taken initial action toward the establishment of Cub Pack 11.

A meeting of an attendance committee was held Monday night with a representative of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America.

According to a church spokesman, a meeting of all parents of boys between the ages of 8 and 11 who would be interested in having the Cub Scouting program brought to their sons, will be held Monday evening, June 27 at the St. James Methodist Church.

Parents of boys of Cub age, regardless of their religious affiliations, are invited to be present at 7:30 p. m. June 27 for the formation of a new Cub Pack.

Lone Independent

Houston, Tex. (AP) — Attorney Dow Heard said the Texas Congress approved annexation by the United States, 55-1. That lone holdout, he said, was a fellow named Sache, who explained: He'd had some trouble with his wife in the States and when he left for the independent Republic of Texas, "I told her I'd never again live in the same country with her."

Marguerite Piazza Wants To Live for 150 Years

By HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP)—Many people may wonder why science is trying to find a way to prolong the average life span to 150 years—but not Marguerite Piazza.

"The greatest fear I have is that I won't live long enough," said the young singer who turned from opera to become one of 'America's top supper club entertainers.

"There are so many things to do, and so little time to do them in. I'd like to live 150 years—and die traveling and still having fun."

Miss Piazza, who was named after a front porch and certainly presents a fine-looking facade, has a number of good reasons for wanting to live 150 years. She is happily married to a successful snuff merchant, she has three handsome children—and she earns up to $20,000 a week. Why not live forever?

THERE WAS many a lifted eyebrow when Miss Piazza, after a couple of seasons with the Metropolitan Opera, turned to a night club act in which she sang everything from Puccini to fast pulsing jazz numbers.

The eyebrows went even higher when, in the middle of her act, Miss Piazza changed her costumes right on the floor, behind the provocative barrier of a portable dressing screen.

Such antics by a typical overstuffed operatic star of the past would be as painful to watch as an elephant trying to skip rope. But not in the case of Miss Piazza, who has a panther grace and beauty.

She proved so popular with the sophisticated patrons of the Hotel Pierre's Cotillion Room the management presented her with a gold key to her suite.

Miss Piazza says the change in style has been good for her personally as well as financially.

"IT HAS GIVEN me more freedom," she said. "They are always telling an opera singer, 'Oh, you can't do that—it isn't dignified.'

"But many people are afraid to enjoy themselves because of conventions that are really meaningless. Why should anyone say a song is boring, merely because it is either jazz or operatic?

"Any song that moves you to joy or tears has greatness. Each thing in life should be enjoyed for what it is.

"But so many people had seen me only wearing crinoline and wigs they were getting the idea that I was old and fat."

Miss Piazza very definitely is neither. She is slender, dark-haired, black-eyed, and has a complexion like a freshly plucked rose petal.

A SINGER and dancer since the age of 2, she came here from New Orleans to carve out a musical career. She was at first so lonely and shy she was unable to force herself to call on producers to seek a job. Her mother, a determined lady, then arrived and took her daughter in hand.

Miss Piazza won star status after her first audition — has been a star ever since. Now she'd like to act in a Broadway play, have her own TV program, try the movies. But she has no wish to go back permanently to the limitations of pure opera.

"IT DOESN'T offer you either the scope or the money," she said frankly.

Between engagements she flies to her home in Memphis. Her husband, William Condon, a vice president of the American Snuff Company, often flies to meet her on weekends when she is on tour.

Miss Piazza is so cheerfully happy in her success I asked her if she could sum up her philosophy.

"The most important thing is to have happiness in your heart," she replied. "But you can't have happiness unless you have peace, and you can't have peace unless you have harmony in your home.

"I do have that, and I feel it is the most wonderful thing in the world. So I'm not fighting anyone."

Will Accept Negroes

Monticello, Ky., June 16 (AP)—Wayne county school's won't wait for organized desegregation. And, as a result, the six children of Clark Stonewall will go to classes for the first time next fall. Ira Bell, superintendent of schools, was told officially yesterday that Kentucky's Day Law requiring segregation in public schools went with the wind when the U. S. Supreme Court ordered integration recently. Bell said that was all he wanted to know. Negro children will be admitted to white schools starting with the fall term.

Students Taken to Border

Hong Kong, June 16 (AP)—Thirty-two Chinese from the United States were taken under police escort today to the Red Chinese border. The group, mostly students, arrived here aboard the American liner President Wilson. There were no demonstrations or incidents. The students were among the 76 detained in the United States since the Korean war broke out because technical knowledge they had gained in studying in America might be of assistance to the Chinese Communists. The State Department lifted the restrictions April 2.

Contract Awarded

New York, June 16 (AP)—A $13,957,018 contract for construction of the Iroquois Dam at the St. Lawrence river power project has been awarded by the State Power Authority. The authority, which announced the award yesterday, said the low bid came in a joint venture by three firms. They are Peter Kiewit, Sons, of Omaha, Neb.; the Arthur A. Johnston Corp., of New York city, and the Al Johnson Construction Co., of Minneapolis.

Value of Chest X-Rays Heard by Saugerties Lions

About 50 members of the Saugerties Lions Club heard Dr. Herbert Schwartz, medical director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, explain how many abnormal chest conditions can be read from a chest X-ray picture, at their regular meeting Monday, June 13, at the Flamingo.

Miss Katherine M. Murphy, executive secretary of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, also spoke to the Lions about the coming free chest X-ray survey for Saugerties industry and business people.

DR. SCHWARTZ accompanied his talk with slides showing the normal lung, the lung with early tuberculosis when it can be cured, and of the far advanced diseased lung with cavities. A tumor of the lung when found early can be removed, he said. Many people in Ulster county have had successful operations for tumor of the lung, and have also had early discovery of tuberculosis and have been cured.

In reading the chest films taken at Saugerties, Dr. Miss Murphy asked the cooperation of the Lions Club members and said the mobile unit employed by the Ulster County TB and Health Association and financed through Christmas Seals Funds will be set up at all the larger industries at various times during the day on Thursday, June 16, and Friday, June 17.

THE X-RAY TRUCK will move to Main street, Saugerties, each day and will take pictures from 6:30 to 8 p. m. for those who wish to take advantage of the X-ray survey.

Miss Murphy explained that these chest X-rays take only a few seconds, no undressing is necessary, and reports of the X-ray are confidential.

The person X-rayed receives a report when negative. If there is any abnormality, the family physician will be notified. Public health nurses will carry on follow-up visits where the family physician asks for this service.

Miss Murphy urged everyone Schwartz will look for many other chest conditions which may be presented in the films, he reported. to take advantage of this free health service and make the survey 100 per cent for Saugerties.

FATHER'S DAY
108 North Front St.
June 8, 1955

On June 19th we approach Father's Day, and one cannot write about the importance of a father without mentioning the importance of the home.

If you were asked to give the definition of a typical American home, how would you define it? Home:—A fold, harbor, or fortress sheltering a family whose foundation is Godly, armed with the forces of righteousness in which its faith builds an altar seasoned with love, gentleness, kindness, truth and self control, with the door of prayer open.

Everyone will agree that clothing, food, shelter and education is not sufficient to make a good father no matter how much we pride ourselves in this respect.

The following twelve commandments should convince you.

A wise father stresses self respect—above all.

He encourages wholesome outside interests.

He instills in his children understanding of other people's beliefs.

Participates in school and club activities, stimulating his children's interest.

Teaches his children obedience to his country's laws and ideals.

Encourages independence, self reliance, and thrift.

He never says a thing is impossible because he can't do it.

Teaches good sportsmanship regardless of the outcome.

Never dwells on trifles, so the important things can be done.

Guides his children's spiritual growth by attendance with them at his church.

He does not crush others down to get ahead himself.

SETS AN EXAMPLE of responsible citizenship by civic interest in civic effort.

The conclusion that can be drawn from these recommendations is importance to example integrated by leadership.

In closing this article let's examine what the challenge of leadership and example consists:

It's up to you, if I fail or succeed.

I am your child. You hold my future in your hands.

Its up to you, if I fail or succeed.

What I am will make you proud or ashamed.

Train me, that I may be honorable.

My mind is open, and curious.

Sincerely yours,
EDWIN J. HIGBY.

Value of Chest X-Rays Heard by Saugerties Lions

About 50 members of the Saugerties Lions Club heard Dr. Herbert Schwartz, medical director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, explain how many abnormal chest conditions can be read from a chest X-ray picture, at their regular meeting Monday, June 13, at the Flamingo.

Miss Katherine M. Murphy, executive secretary of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, also spoke to the Lions about the coming free chest X-ray survey for Saugerties industry and business people.

DR. SCHWARTZ accompanied his talk with slides showing the normal lung, the lung with early tuberculosis when it can be cured, and of the far advanced diseased lung with cavities. A tumor of the lung when found early can be removed, he said. Many people in Ulster county have had successful operations for tumor of the lung, and have also had early discovery of tuberculosis and have been cured.

In reading the chest films taken at Saugerties, Dr. Miss Murphy asked the cooperation of the Lions Club members and said the mobile unit employed by the Ulster County TB and Health Association and financed through Christmas Seals Funds will be set up at all the larger industries at various times during the day on Thursday, June 16, and Friday, June 17.

THE X-RAY TRUCK will move to Main street, Saugerties, each day and will take pictures from 6:30 to 8 p. m. for those who wish to take advantage of the X-ray survey.

Miss Murphy explained that these chest X-rays take only a few seconds, no undressing is necessary, and reports of the X-ray are confidential.

The person X-rayed receives a report when negative. If there is any abnormality, the family physician will be notified. Public health nurses will carry on follow-up visits where the family physician asks for this service.

Miss Murphy urged everyone Schwartz will look for many other chest conditions which may be presented in the films, he reported. to take advantage of this free health service and make the survey 100 per cent for Saugerties.

FATHER'S DAY
108 North Front St.
June 8, 1955

On June 19th we approach Father's Day, and one cannot write about the importance of a father without mentioning the importance of the home.

If you were asked to give the definition of a typical American home, how would you define it? Home:—A fold, harbor, or fortress sheltering a family whose foundation is Godly, armed with the forces of righteousness in which its faith builds an altar seasoned with love, gentleness, kindness, truth and self control, with the door of prayer open.

Everyone will agree that clothing, food, shelter and education is not sufficient to make a good father no matter how much we pride ourselves in this respect.

The following twelve commandments should convince you.

A wise father stresses self respect—above all.

He encourages wholesome outside interests.

He instills in his children understanding of other people's beliefs.

Participates in school and club activities, stimulating his children's interest.

Teaches his children obedience to his country's laws and ideals.

Encourages independence, self reliance, and thrift.

He never says a thing is impossible because he can't do it.

Teaches good sportsmanship regardless of the outcome.

Never dwells on trifles, so the important things can be done.

Guides his children's spiritual growth by attendance with them at his church.

He does not crush others down to get ahead himself.

SETS AN EXAMPLE of responsible citizenship by civic interest in civic effort.

The conclusion that can be drawn from these recommendations is importance to example integrated by leadership.

In closing this article let's It's up to you, if I fail or succeed. examine what the challenge of leadership and example consists: I am your child. You hold my future in your hands.

Its up to you, if I fail or succeed.

What I am will make you proud or ashamed.

Train me, that I may be honorable.

My mind is open, and curious.

Sincerely yours,
EDWIN J. HIGBY.

Weekly Work Day?

Kokomo, Ind. (AP)—Things may be different in another 25 years if you can hold out that long. Dr. J. Hart Walsh, dean of education at Butler University in Indianapolis, told the Rotary Club the work week may be only 5 to 10 hours by 1980.

Probably Not Read

Richmond, Va. (AP)—Thomas P. Ayer, Richmond's head librarian, recalls that a Bible was the first book he bought for the library 31 years ago. It was stolen in the first six months. Ayer says more textbooks are stolen than any other kind. The library is careful not to duplicate the wares of college book stores.

Assume that you are playing today's South hand at a contract of six spades. You have a right to feel satisfied with the bidding, but see if you can find a way to assure the contract against almost any location of the missing high cards.

Naturally you win the first trick with the ace of clubs. The next step is to lead a heart to dummy's king. Now you lead dummy's king of clubs, discarding your singleton diamond! Finally, you lead a low trump from the dummy.

If East followed with the jack of spades, you would finesse the queen. Since East actually discards a club, you go up with the ace of spades and give up a spade trick to West's king.

What can West do now? If he returns a heart, you get a free finesse. If West, instead, returns a diamond, you finesse dummy's jack and can make sure of two diamond tricks no matter who has the king. (This is why you discarded the diamond on dummy's king of clubs.) And if West returns a club, you can ruff in dummy and discard a heart from your hand, with another heart discard to come on the ace of diamonds.

In short, your slam contract is assured no matter what West does.

If you don't play the hand in this way, you are at the mercy of your guesses. You are sure to lose a spade trick, with both of the missing trumps in the West hand, and you are in danger of losing a heart. You may decide to try a heart finesse, or you may try to guess which opponent has the king of diamonds. In any case, you will lose the slam if you guess wrong.

Assume that you are playing today's South hand at a contract of six spades. You have a right to feel satisfied with the bidding, but see if you can find a way to assure the contract against almost any location of the missing high cards.

Naturally you win the first trick with the ace of clubs. The next step is to lead a heart to dummy's king. Now you lead dummy's king of clubs, discarding your singleton diamond! Finally, you lead a low trump from the dummy.

If East followed with the jack of spades, you would finesse the queen. Since East actually discards a club, you go up with the ace of spades and give up a spade trick to West's king.

What can West do now? If he returns a heart, you get a free finesse. If West, instead, returns a diamond, you finesse dummy's jack and can make sure of two diamond tricks no matter who has the king. (This is why you discarded the diamond on dummy's king of clubs.) And if West returns a club, you can ruff in dummy and discard a heart from your hand, with another heart discard to come on the ace of diamonds.

In short, your slam contract is assured no matter what West does.

If you don't play the hand in this way, you are at the mercy of your guesses. You are sure to lose a spade trick, with both of the missing trumps in the West hand, and you are in danger of losing a heart. You may decide to try a heart finesse, or you may try to guess which opponent has the king of diamonds. In any case, you will lose the slam if you guess wrong.

Work, Sleep, Play In Comfort

Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation ...with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys — tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable...with restless, sleepless nights...don't wait...try Doan's Pills... get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Get Doan's Pills today!

Salary for Clergy

Clinton, N. Y., June 16 (AP)—The New York Presbyterian Synod has voted to suggest to local presbyteries that the maintenance minimum for full pastors be raised to $3,600 a year. The synod acted yesterday in the second day of its three-day 73rd annual meeting at Hamilton College. Last year's suggested minimum was $3,000. It approved $103,000 for four special benevolence causes: the maintenance of pastors' salary; the Westminister Foundation, which works among college youth; the Polytechnic Institute of Puerto Rico; and the New York State Council of Churches.

$1500 STRUGGLE—This welded steel object is called "Struggle" and it won a $1500 prize for Hawaiian-born Joseph Goto at the Chicago Art Institute's 58th annual exhibition. Looking over the sculpture are Mrs. Florence McIntosh and John G. Curtis, Jr.

Injuries Bring Losses

Philadelphia (AP)—The biggest financial loser in Philadelphia automobile accidents is the guy who gets hurt. A Temple University survey showed personal injuries in car mishaps resulted in "out-of-pocket losses," a large proportion of which are never recovered." Dr. John F. Adams, director of Temple's Bureau of Economic and Business Research, said the study also disclosed "that the existence of insurance materially improves the chances of recovery" from injury losses.

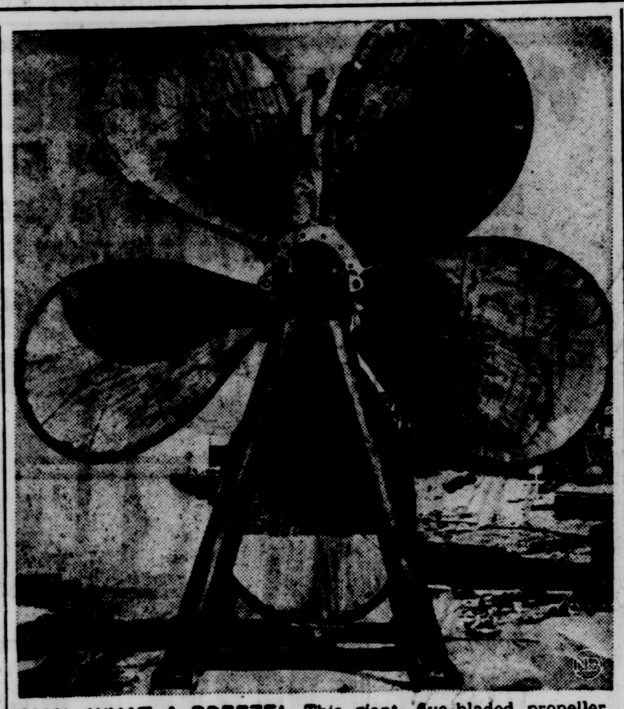
Brothers in Arms

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—A pair of young brothers walked into a hospital together and walked out with new casts on their forearms. Ronald Satterfield, 7, said he broke his right arm when he ran into a tree. His brother, Kenneth, 9, fell off his bicycle, fracturing his left arm.



MAN, WHAT A BREEZE!—This giant, five-bladed propeller stands on a dock at Newport News, Va., evidence that water transportation, though age-old, is still vital in this jet age. Too large for railroads and too heavy for highways, four of these 70,000-pound propellers were shipped by barge from Philadelphia. Twenty-one feet in diameter, the cast manganese-bronze propellers were designed for the super-carrier USS Forrestal.

96,000 Plants Have Only 219 Inspectors

Chicago, June 16 (AP)—A government official said today that the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has only 219 inspectors to police industries producing foods, drugs and cosmetics with a total annual value of more than 60 billion dollars.

George P. Larrick, commissioner of foods and drugs, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said limitations placed upon the FDA has forced the agency to adopt a priority system in planning its work.

Larrick, in a prepared speech at the concluding session of the National Assn. of Retail Grocers' Convention said the budget and manpower of FDA are virtually the same as in 1940 despite a huge increase in the agency's work load. He added:

"There are more than 96,000 processing plants and warehouses which handle a substantial volume of products. Last year these men (inspectors) visited approximately 9,000 plants. At that rate it would take approximately 10 years to inspect each of these large plants and warehouses, just once."

$31,612 Realized In Polio Drive; Workers Praised

Addison Jones and his Ulster county workers who helped raise $31,612.23 during the 1955 drive, have received the praise from national headquarters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in the form of a letter signed by Basil O'Connor, president.

Mr. Jones announced the final tabulations of this year's drive today, netting $32,612.23, $11,329.06 of which was collected in Kingston.

Attorney William A. Kelly is chairman of the Ulster County Chapter for Infantile Paralysis.

MR. JONES, who is the campaign director for Ulster county, extended his own plaudits to his workers when he said "he was extremely gratified with the results. The amount shows that every worker did his utmost in making the drive a success."

President O'Connor's letter to Chairman Jones read:

"Your county financial report and remittance for the campaign has just been received at national headquarters and I want to thank you and your entire committee for your splendid efforts on behalf of the 1955 March of Dimes. Our ability to continue the advance in the fight against polio will be in direct proportion to the fund-raising results which you have achieved.

"The National Foundation must not at this time abandon the tens of thousands of polio patients who have been stricken in the past, many of whom are on our Chapter rolls at the present time, and there are others still to be stricken who will need our help. We also have the obligation to encourage the widest possible use of the available supply of Salk vaccine.

"It is with very deep gratitude, then, that I extend my personal thanks to you, your coworkers, and the people of your community who gave so generously in support of the March of Dimes."

FOLLOWING is the breakdown of communities, chairmen and their contributions for the 1955 polio drive:

Power of Big Business to Smother Small Rivals Is Debated

Little Three Has Fear, Top Steel Under Scrutiny

New York, June 16 (AP)—The power of big business to smother small rivals—if it likes—is being debated today on two fronts.

1. The three smaller auto companies are complaining that they cannot match the 20-cent-per-hour wage-benefit package which General Motors and Ford granted their workers. The little three say they fear that the guaranteed wage would force them out of business.

2. Congressional inquiries into how big the top steel companies should be allowed to get are focusing on proposed mergers—and on the asserted need for still bigger companies to meet a hugh new demand for steel in the future.

THE PUBLIC'S interest has been centered for some time now on the plight of the three small auto companies—before their wave of mergers there were six—in what has been termed the fiercest sales competition ever among the Big Three.

To stave off a strike and keep their assembly lines going in their keen rivalry to sell the most possible cars in this biggest of sales years, General Motors and Ford have come to terms with the union. The size of the 20-cent package has startled many executives in other industries. For the three smaller auto concerns it's a major problem—perhaps, as they contend, even one of survival.

SENATORIAL curiosity — notably during the Fulbright stock market inquiry—has been turned before this on the threat of the auto sales race between Ford and GM squeezing out competition.

Both senatorial and House groups are taking a look this week at the question of bigness in the steel industry.

A House subcommittee studying antitrust problems heard this prediction from Ernest T. Weir, chairman of National Steel:

"The country is very evidently going to have bigger and bigger businesses. There is nothing wrong with big business so long as it's the result of natural internal growth."

BUT ON the problem of big business getting bigger by merging large companies within an industry, Weir had this warning:

"Business has now reached a size where every merger should have the most detailed investigation."

Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube had their day before a Senate judiciary subcommittee studying antitrust problems. The two big steel companies want to merge but the Justice Department opposes out of fear of creating a situation where some giants in the steel industry might smother the small companies.

OFFICIALS of both Bethlehem and Youngstown contend that their merger would aid them to expand steel capacity to meet the future needs of the nation.

Arthur B. Homer, Bethlehem president, says: "We see growth ahead and we want to be able to meet it." He says within 15 years the industry must expand to a capacity of 180 to 190 million tons a year—that's around 50 per cent more than the 125 million it has today.

Weir, looking a little further ahead, sees a demand for 200 million tons annually to meet population growth and expanding demand of consumers for goods of all types.

BIG COMPANIES, presumably, would be in a better position financially to bear the cost of building the new and expensive capacity—and, thus, at the same time would be growing bigger.

Present steel capacity—being used now at its maximum profitable rate—may have an added strain in coming weeks as the result of the labor settlement in the auto industry.

Rivalry there is expected to be keener than ever, production of cars will continue high for some time, and demand for quick delivery of steel will grow, in the opinion of many steelmen.

The use of marines (soldiers on warships) dates as far back as naval history.

Killed in Crash

Nassau, N. Y., June 16 (AP)—Kenneth B. Pettibone, 38, of Pittsfield, Mass., was killed early today when the tractor-trailer he was driving struck two telephone poles and a tree along Route 20 a mile west of this village. Coroner George T. Dusty of Rensselaer county said Pettibone apparently had fallen asleep. He was a driver for the Kelly-Hunter Co., Pittsfield. The trailer was empty.

The famed Kentucky rifle was made in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania.

The Mature Parent

She Found the Way to Let Someone Else Handle Reality

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

At 18, Dot went to a noted women's college, attended classes, dated, majored in English Literature—and graduated.

Because she wore clothes well and her uncle knew the advertising manager, her city's smartest department store agreed to make her a fashion stylist. By the end of the year, she was earning an excellent salary.

Living at home, she spent it on luxuries instead of on rent, food, cleaning, telephone and other basic bills. Later, moving to an apartment with another girl, she paid half of the basic bills. But a salary raise enabled her to go right on buying loge theatre tickets, $125 suits, imported blouses, expensive cosmetics and vacations.

On one of the vacations, she met Fred.

He wanted marriage intensely. Because their doubled income made one immediately possible, he said, "Sure, go on working. We'll do fine." Which they did. They had a maid four times a week and they had fine parties. It was morning-after dizziness after their biggest party that first told Dot she was going to have a baby.

A modern girl, she met pregnancy in the modern mode. She bought some good looking smocks and worked to within a week of her confinement. So she and Fred had the money for the services of a first-rate hospital and a fashionable obstetrician.

Four months later, Dot gave herself her first home permanent. She bought her first pair of service-weight nylons. She had her first quarrel with Fred over the price she'd paid for some wine. Then young Timothy caught his first cold. It became the kind that doctors visit twice a day. Its cost made his parents' decision to move to a cheaper apartment.

The sink didn't work well. The closets were small. That spring, finding a moth hole in one of the $125 suits, Dot burst into tears. The following day, Tim fell into the pail of water with which she was washing windows. When he was back in dry clothes, his mother went to the telephone—and asked for her old job back.

Now all is fine again. Tim is in nursery school. He has a big sunny room with shelves of toys. The only problem is the unreliability of the women Dot hires to look after him. But as she never fails to keep in telephone touch when he's sick, you couldn't call Tim "neglected."

Not unless you saw him in one of his bedtime tantrums.

There's no sense getting mad at his mother. Her evasion of female reality is inevitable. For years, she's been ducking the economic kind. For years, other people have been paying her basic bills while she's had fun earning her child's dream of a Big Allowance. Dot's doing with her biological reality what she's always done with reality—

Get someone else to look after it for her.

Heavy Bank Loan Demand Expected In Fall, Is Report

Lake Placid, N. Y., June 16 (AP)—A leading banker said Wednesday that banks in New York state expected a heavy demand for loans his fall.

The banker, who declined the use of his name, said it was possible that loans might exceed 1954's by as much as 10 per cent.

ABOUUT 15 BANKING officials held a news conference in advance of the 59th annual convention of the New York State Bankers' Assn., to be held through midnight Friday.

The bankers told reporters the news conference was held to present a general picture of the banking and economic situation in the state.

The officials all refused the use of their names.

Comments at the conference included these points:

BUSINESS ACTIVITY in the state should continue at the same high level this year and possibly a little better in the last two quarters.

Bank earnings in 1955 have been slightly better than in 1954.

Earnings could have reached an all time record except for a sharp increase in operating costs within the banks themselves.

Among other factors effecting the increased operating costs were employe salaries and fringe benefits.

SEVERAL OFFICIALS said farm loans were off slightly. They said they felt this was due to temporary slowing up of expansion on the part of the farmers.

Officials from the Binghamton and Long Island areas said that building activity was showing no let-up "in the foreseeable future." They said that they expected economic activity in those areas to continue at a high level for several years.

About 750 persons are expected at the meeting. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine delegate to the United Nations, will address the convention Friday.

OPEN HOUSE—This sign, on the safe of the National Bowling and Billiards Co., of Vancouver, B.C., is designed to prevent damage to the safe. The company's office has been broken into five times in recent weeks, with the would-be thieves finding the safe too much for them. Helen Hall, office manager who put up the sign, shakes an empty cash box to make sure any burglars get only air.

Bulb Record

Adrian, Mich. (AP)—J. J. Clark has an old-fashioned carbon-type electric light bulb which, at last look, still was burning after nearly 30 years of use. Clark put the light in a basement fixture in 1926 and estimated that it is turned on an average of four hours a day.

HE CAN'T EVEN SHIFT FOR HIMSELF—Michael Bird swears he's not guilty of any traffic violation. The two-and-a-half-month-old boy, who lives with his parents in Salt Lake City, Utah, got a letter charging him with juvenile delinquency arising from a driving citation. The letter warned his mother, Mrs. James M. Bird, shown above, that if she didn't bring Michael into court within two weeks he would get 30 days—which is almost half his age.

FASHION FLIGHT — Dress of printed surah with face-framing white collar is modeled during fashion show held aboard plane flying from Rome to northern Italy and back.

STAGING THE SHOW — One bear stands erect while acting as director for the fish party thrown in the Rome, Italy, Zoo's polar bear enclosure. Its companions are too busy foraging for themselves to pay attention to the leader.

Youth Questioned

Washington, June 16 (AP)—Police investigating the slaying of two pretty schoolgirls in suburban Maryland questioned a former boy friend of one of the victims through most of last night then brought the 18-year-old back for more questions and a second lie detector test today.

Detective Sgt. Richard Pearson of Prince Georges county, Md., police said the youth had written the girl a letter with a "threatening" tone after her father had discouraged his attentions. The detective said the boy also had acknowledged being in the recreation area near the university.

Billy Cox Retires

Harrisburg, Pa., June 16 (AP)—Billy Cox, Baltimore Oriole's third baseman who yesterday was traded to the Cleveland Indians, said today he has retired from baseball. Cox is 35, has been in the major leagues since 1942 although he was in military service during the 1942-3-4-5 seasons. Contacted at his home in nearby Newport, Cox told a newsman: "I learned last night that I had been traded and right then I decided I would retire."

In 1946, a Tokyo expert using an abacus proved he could calculate faster than an expert using a modern electric machine.

15 Persons Feared Dead in Crash of Brazilian Airliner

Asuncion, Paraguay, June 16 (AP)—A Brazilian airliner bearing 24 persons crashed in a heavy fog five miles from Asuncion early today and 15 were reported killed or unaccounted for. Officers of the line, Panair Do Brasil, said there were 9 known survivors.

John Dowling, chief of Time Magazine's bureau in Buenos Aires, was among the 14 passengers. He was en route back to the Argentine capital from Sao Paulo, Brazil.

The company implied Dowling—the son of actor Eddie Dowling—was dead or missing. His name was omitted from a list of the known survivors.

ONLY THREE of the 10 crew members were known to have lived through the crackup and explosion that demolished the four-engine Constellation. These were co-pilot Fernando Morgado, gravely injured; purser Rodolfo Lortello, hospitalized with undetermined injuries; and stewardess Sheila Monteath, also in a hospital.

Rescue workers hauled the bodies of six passengers and three of the plane's 10-member crew from the fire-scarred wreckage near the village of Cuatro Mojones. But identifications were slow.

The plane—in the final stages of a long flight to Buenos Aires from London via Paris, Lisbon, Dakar, Recife, Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo, Brazil—apparently was letting down for a landing at this Paraguayan capital when the end came.

Rub a little paste wax on the edge of desk or dresser drawers to keep them from sticking.

Why We Say--

STUFFED SHIRT

The expression "stuffed shirt," for someone who imagines that he is more important than he actually is, was started in 1899 by American actress Fay Templeton. The epithet was thrown at another stage personality, John Gates, who was a great pretender at having wealth. It was rumored that Gates padded his shirts to aid his appearance.

A young woman entered a stationery shop and asked for a pound of floor wax.

Clerk—I'm sorry, miss, we sell only sealing wax.

Customer—Don't be silly, why would anyone want to wax the ceiling?

At the memorial service the director said: "We will now have the address from Dr. Smith, after which a volley will be fired over the dead."

Old Customer (getting a shave)—Where's the barber who worked on the next chair?

Barber—Hadn't you heard about Bill? It was a very sad case. He grew nervous and despondent over poor business, and one day when a customer said he didn't care for a massage he suddenly went out of his mind and slashed the customer's throat. He is in the asylum for the criminal insane now. Will you be having a massage, sir?

Old customer—Sure, go ahead!

Affable Waiter—How did you find that steak, sir?

Guest—Oh, quite accidentally. I moved that piece of potato and there it was, underneath.

When you help a fellow up a steep hill, you will find yourself that much closer to the top.

STUFFED SHIRT

The expression "stuffed shirt," for someone who imagines that he is more important than he actually is, was started in 1899 by American actress Fay Templeton. The epithet was thrown at another stage personality, John Gates, who was a great pretender at having wealth. It was rumored that Gates padded his shirts to aid his appearance.

Results of examinations, also in May, for the position of fire chief and deputy fire chief, are not immediately expected.

AN EXAMINATION for police lieutenant was held last Saturday and results of this are not expected to be announced for some time. Three candidates took the test.

Two candidates took the examination for fireman and only one was reported successful. Fifteen took the test for patrolman and only five will be listed.

DemocraticChiefs Give Approval to Broader Benefits

Washington, June 16 (AP) — Broad and costly revisions of the social security program were given a legislative go-ahead today by Democratic House leaders.

Plans agreed on at a meeting attended by Speaker Rayburn (Tex.), Democratic Leader McCormack (Mass.), and Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee call for action at this session on a bill to benefit principally women and all disabled employes.

The Ways and Means Committee, which like the House is under Democratic control, may start consideration of the proposals next week. Democrats already have agreed to dispense with public hearings in a drive to speed up action.

CHANGES BACKED by the Democrats, and likely to have substantial Republican support, would:

1. Lower the eligibility age for women from 65 to 62 years, affecting immediately a million women and costing an estimated 350 to 400 million dollars a year.

2. Provide for immediate benefit payments to insured workers permanently and totally disabled, regardless of age. This would cost up to $1,400,000,000 a year and affect from 1,200,000 to 1,700,000 persons.

3. Continue benefit payments for children past the age of 18 who are physically or mentally incapacitated. The cost of this would be relatively small, sponsors said.

who volunteered and cooperated last year in the control test, it was pointed out that administration of the second shot next week to those children would put them on a par with the children who last year received the actual serum.

Had these children not volunteered and cooperated in the test last year it would not have been possible to evaluate the success of the vaccine. Consequently the decision was made to complete the immunization of these children by administering to them the second shot.

ARRANGEMENTS have been completed to begin the injections at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at the cafeteria of the George Washington school. Transportation for children who are still in school has been arranged by volunteers from the local polio chapter and William A. Kelly, president, said today that sufficient transportation had been arranged. However, some of the schools of the city have closed and in instances where the children have been dismissed for the summer recess, it will be necessary for the parents to arrange the transportation.

Cars will be at the schools still open to convey the children to the George Washington school.

NOTICE WILL BE given through the school authorities as to the children eligible for their second shot. An effort will also be made to publish the list of eligible pupils so that parents may have notice in addition to that given in school.

Arrangements are also being made to give the serum to county school students who participated in the 1954 test and who did not get the actual serum at that time. These arangements for schools outside the city are now being made through school officials and the school physicians. It is hoped this plan can be arranged before schools close but if this is impossible the second injection will be administered under arrangements made locally.

Dr. Hargrave pointed out today that the serum used in New York state has been from a supplier whose quality has been fully tested and approved.

A third or "booster" shot under the present set-up will not be given for several months after the second shot is administered.

Maritime Talks

sels. If anyone is fired for refusing to move the ships, picket lines will be ordered, he said.

Work stopped on 12 ships in Baltimore, one tanker was tied up in New Orleans with two more expected to be affected shortly. One tanker berthed in Boston was ordered not to sail.

The employer group, the committee of Atlantic and Gulf Steamship Lines, has called the union wage demands "excessive" and unable to be met. The demands affect workers on freighters, tankers and passenger ships.

THE FIRST effects on the traveling public were registered at airline offices. Several hundred applications were received for overseas accommodations at New York offices within a few hours. There was little hope of many persons being taken care of because, the lines reported, nearly all space was booked months ago for this period, the peak of the trans-Atlantic travel season.

The first large passenger ship likely to be affected is the American Export liner Independence, due to sale for the Mediterranean Saturday. The largest to be affected, if the stoppage continues, is the U. S. Lines United States, due to arrived from Europe Tuesday.

NMU MEMBERS are seamen and other unlicensed personnel.

Members of three other unions, embracing officers and other licensed personnel on the ships sailing from ports on the east and gulf coasts, also were left without contracts at the midnight expiration.

Spokesmen for these three unions were not available for comment after the pattern-making NMU sent out its call, but it was likely that they also would stand by their traditional "no contract, no work" policy.

Work stoppages by the 33,000 members of the four unions would affect approximately 1,000 ships—about half of the American merchant fleet.

Disagreement over union demands on an unemployment insurace fund led to the work stoppage recommendations.

Washington, June 16 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said today President Eisenhower "has got to stand up to the pressure" he predicted will be generated under the new foreign trade bill. The Senate completed congressional action on the measure yesterday by voice vote, sending it to the President for signature which will extend the reciprocal trade agreements law three years and give the President new powers to cut tariffs 5 per cent in each year.

Military Planes Hit Argentina's Government Seat

Buenos Aires, Argentina, June 16 (AP)—Revolt broke out today against the government of President Juan D. Peron shortly after the Vatican excommunicated him and other government leaders.

There was a pitched battle in the center of Buenos Aires, and planes bombed Government House, the seat of government. Revolutionists fired mortars, machine guns and rifles against the presidential guard.

THE REVOLT was reported to have spread to Rosario, Argentina's second city, although the government claimed the country was quiet outside Buenos Aires.

"There have been some disturbances, due to uprisings of units of the air force and the navy," the state radio said in a statement attributed to President Peron. "Army troops are fighting to restore order.

"ONE AIRPLANE has been shot down. Three others have been obliged to land."

Later the radio said only naval aviation was involved, not the air force.

This correspondent saw casualties being removed from the Plaza de Mayo, in front of Government House. Nearby is the National Cathedral, center of last weekend's disturbances involving supporters of the Roman Catholic Church and supporters of President Peron in his campaign to curb the church in this country.

The center of the city was virtually alive with troops, and bands of workers could be seen running in the direction of Government House shouting "Peron, Peron!"

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 16 (AP)—The advance in the stock market continued today.

Aircrafts led the way. The rise was modified to a certain extent by some backward divisions.

Prices were up around 2 points at the best while losses went to about a point.

TRADING was brisk. The pace was in the vicinity of yesterday when 2,650,000 shares changed hands.

Aircrafts had support from the nonferrous metals, most steels, principal motors, oils, motion pictures, building materials, and the rubbers.

Railroads were slightly higher on balance, but they displayed many minus signs. Chemicals were ragged.

Sailing Canceled

Southampton, England, June 16 (AP)—Britain's wildcat seamen's strike forced the 81,000-ton liner Queen Mary to cancel her New York sailing today and squeezed Britain's harried passenger lines into a tight corner. The strikers had pinned their hopes on tying up the Mary, pride of the great Cunard fleet. They were convinced her sailing would doom the walkout which already has tied up the 32,000-ton Mauretania and five other transatlantic liners. The strikers failed last week to hold up the Queen Elizabeth, flagship of the line.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 16 (AP)—The advance in the stock market continued today.

Aircrafts led the way. The rise was modified to a certain extent by some backward divisions.

Prices were up around 2 points at the best while losses went to about a point.

TRADING was brisk. The pace was in the vicinity of yesterday when 2,650,000 shares changed hands.

Aircrafts had support from the nonferrous metals, most steels, principal motors, oils, motion pictures, building materials, and the rubbers.

Railroads were slightly higher on balance, but they displayed many minus signs. Chemicals were ragged.

Sailing Canceled

Southampton, England, June 16 (AP)—Britain's wildcat seamen's strike forced the 81,000-ton liner Queen Mary to cancel her New York sailing today and squeezed Britain's harried passenger lines into a tight corner. The strikers had pinned their hopes on tying up the Mary, the pride of the great Cunard fleet. They were convinced her sailing would doom the walkout which already has tied up the 32,000-ton Mauretania and five other transatlantic liners. The strikers failed last week to hold up the Queen Elizabeth, flagship of the line.

A company spokesman said that 15 paint and packing workers walked off the job yesterday to attend a union meeting and didn't return. Procter & Gamble's Golden Fluffo

What a pie it makes!

RICHER-LOOKING... BETTER-TASTING... MORE APPETIZING!

Fluffo makes the shortest, flakiest piecrust possible...the most tempting golden-brown pies you can bake!

Why? Because fabulous new Fluffo cuts into flour for tender, golden pastry never possible with a plain white shortening. Makes piecrust so rich and delicate it breaks at the merest touch of your fork!

OHIO FAIR BAKING CHAMPION, Mrs. Frank Friesner, says:—

"Fluffo makes such tender pastry that's so easy to flute. My pie is beautiful when it goes into the oven—and gorgeous when it comes out. With white shortening, I'm afraid I'll scorch my pie if I leave it in the oven long enough to get it nice and golden-brown. I don't worry about that with Fluffo. Now, the golden beauty is baked right in the pie. And it tastes just as good as it looks!"

"No white shortening gives me a pie like this," says Mrs. Frank Friesner, blue ribbon winner in Midwest Baking Competition.

Like cooking champions, you'll be excited about golden Fluffo! It gives you flaky, tender, golden-brown piecrust such as you've never been able to make before... tastier and richer-looking, by far, than you can get from white shortening!

That's because Fluffo is different! Even its color is different—yellow from pure carotene.

And Fluffo is such fun to work with! Use it in all your recipes that call for shortening—and see what happens! Without changing a single measurement, you'll get the highest, lightest, fluffiest-textured cakes possible. The most appetizing, golden-brown fries... and so crisp and digestible too!

Yet Fluffo costs no more than leading white shortenings! It's available in most areas. Get a can of Fluffo and use it for richer-looking, better-tasting cooking!

Grilled Scallions on Toast Suggested by Texas Cook

FRESH VEGETABLE AND BEEF LOAF will make a fine summer main dish. It is economical, too.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Corpus Christi, Tex., has a wonderful cook in Mrs. John B. Hardwicke. She does grilled scallions on toast or waffles. Her grandchildren call for "Grandma's fresh vegetable meat loaf." Anyway you look at it, she's an artist with fresh fruits and vegetables. Why not—her husband is prominent in the business.

Grilled Scallions on Toast or Waffles
(Yield: 6 servings)

Five to 6 bunches scallions, ½-inch boiling water in pan, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons butter or magarine, 3 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups milk, ¾ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper, 6 waffles or 6 slices toast, 2 fresh medium tomatoes, ¾ cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese.

Peel scallions leaving on 2 inches of the green tops. Place, whole, in saucepan. Add boiling water and salt. Cover. Boil 3 minutes or until tender, lifting the cover one or two times during cooking period. Remove from water. Drain. In the meantime, melt butter or magarine in a saucepan. Blend in flour. Stir in milk, salt and black pepper. Cook until medium thickness, stirring constantly. Place cooked scallions on toast or waffles, over which pour ½ cup cream sauce. Top each with a ½-inch slice tomato. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Broil until brown.

Fresh Vegetable and Beef Loaf
(Yield: Ten ½-inch slices)

Two pounds ground chuck, 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs, 2 eggs, beaten; 1¾ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper, ¼ cup chopped fresh parsley, 2/3 cup finely chopped green pepper, 1 1/3 cups finely chopped onion, 1½ cups finely diced fresh tomatoes, 2 medium fresh mushrooms, sliced (optional), 2 teaspoons butter or margarine (optional).

Thoroughly mix all ingredients except mushrooms and butter or margarine. Pack firmly into a paper-lined, greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Bake 75 minutes in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Turn out onto a serving platter. If desired saute mushrooms in butter or magarine and place over top. Serve with buttered parsley fresh carrots.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Beef and vegetable loaf, parsley carrots, stuffed potatoes, grated beet relish, cantaloupe balls in sour cream, coffee, tea, milk.

Delisio . . .

Murphy has been in the fire service for 47 years, has been a volunteer for a total of 53 years and has served as chief of the department for more than 30 years.

At the conclusion of Murphy's talk, he was given a standing ovation by delegates and members present.

THE CONVENTION session was opened at the Elks Club this morning by James Locke, chairman of the local convention committee. The invocation was by the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, DD, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church.

The Kingston Concert Band, under the direction of Salvatore Castigilione, played the Star Spangled Banner and also offered a selection later in the program.

A MEMORIAL service for members was conducted with the Rev. J. Jack Sharkey, chaplain of the East End Company No. 2, New Hamburg, presiding. Soloists were Miss Mary Coughlin and John A. McCullough, both accompanied by Harry Maisenhelder.

Names of the departed members were read by Secretary Charles M. Fales of Haverstraw.

In his message, the Rev. Mr. Sharkey said that the hallmark of greatness is not privilege but devotion.

IN HIS ANNUAL report, Anthony Delisio, of Haverstraw, the association president, reported that although the association has not yet reached a membership of 2,000, that goal is "not too far distant." He thanked the Kingston volunteer firemen and city officials for the welcome extended to the association.

Mr. Delisio paid special tribute to Fire Captain William J. Geary who died Nov. 10, 1954 and who had worked very diligently to bring this year's convention to Kingston.

By 9 a. m. today, approximately 100 delegates had registered at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The large influx of visitors will come Saturday as members of 115 participating companies, plus bands, drum corps and other units arrive for the parade. Nearly 10,000 persons are expected to be in the line of march.

PRE-CONVENTION meetings scheduled on Wednesday included the 2 p. m. meeting of the board of directors of the Hudson Valley Firemen's Association at the Gov. Clinton Hotel, and a meeting at 8 p. m. at Wiltwyck Station of officers of the association with the local convention committee.

Gaily decorated business houses greeted the firemen, and this morning the festive atmosphere was enhanced by the appearance of the Kingston Concert Band, playing martial music in front of the Gov. Clinton Hotel as delegates registered. Further registration of delegates and members took place at 1 p. m. and will continue Friday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

Prior to the official opening of the convention, the delegates marched behind the Kingston Concert Band from the Gov. Clinton Hotel to the Elks Club, where sessions were held.

Remaining highlights on the convention program include a dance at the Elks Club tonight for delegates, members and their ladies.

Election of officers will take place Friday morning, with balloting from 10 a. m. until noon. Committee reports will also be submitted during the Friday morning session.

Friday afternoon the ladies will meet at the Masonic Club at 1 p. m. for an outing. Members and delegates will be entertained by the local committee at the state armory beginning at 8 p. m. A show at the Municipal Auditorium Friday night will feature stage, radio and TV stars.

The parade is scheduled to begin promptly at 2 p. m. Saturday.

WORKER SAVES BURIED BOSS — Thomas Whittaker, 44, bends over his boss, John Sullivan, 41, on a strtcher, after he rescued the boss from a trench cave-in, in Boston, June 15. Sullivan was buried for more than an hour until Whittaker, who says he had a "premonition" something might be wrong, drove six miles out of his way to check at the trench. On arrival he discovered Sullivan's hand protruding from debris in the ditch. (AP Wirephoto).

UAW Talk Adjourned

Detroit, June 16 (AP)—Bargaining talks between American Motors Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers were adjourned until next Tuesday with both sides apparently trying for a compromise on the union's demand for a guaranteed annual wage.

Companies . . .

service for fire companies but to date had taken no definite steps toward that end. The committee at this time feels that the present proposal "is the first practical solution yet offered."

SHOULD THE PLAN meet with the approval of the fire companies of the county, the board may be expected to take definite action at an early time, a committee member said.

In submitting its proposal, the telephone company quotes a charge for receiver antennas based on its calculations and experience but it may be necessary to employ a type different than planned. If this should be necessary the quotations as to cost would be adjusted accordingly, either upward or downward, as determined.

Under the proposal there is contemplated using two base stations to provide satisfactory coverage to fixed station houses throughout the county.

It is presently planned to place one of the base stations with automatic emergency power equipment on Tonche Mountain in the town of Olive near the Pitcairn estate and the other at Lake Minnewaska or at Sam's Point mountain in southern Ulster in the town of Wawarsing.

CONTROL OF THESE two base stations will be by radio link operation from a control station at the Kingston Fire Mutual Aid Headquarters. The county will have responsibility of securing permission to use these two locations and to secure the necessary rights of way for access. The county will also provide housing for the equipment and commercial power and wiring to operate them.

Sixty watt mobile units will be furnished in order to provide the greatest range possible for mobile to mobile communication. These units draw considerable power so the power plants of the fire trucks should be capable of supplying 60 amperes of current when the mobile unit is transmitting. The coverage obtainable from these units will, of course, depend upon the intervening terrain. Weatherproof housings will be provided by our company if required.

AS PART of the requirement for selective operation of the sirens at the various fire houses, it is planned to install a receiver with varying types of antennas at all but three of the locations. At these three locations it will be necessary to provide a high quality receiver as these points, Big Indian, Phoenicia and Pine Hill, are in a high loss shadow area. The required selective signalling receiving equipment will also be provided at all of these fire stations and the sending equipment will be placed at Fire Mutual Aid Headquarters in Kingston.

If simultaneous sounding of all of the sirens for Civil Defense warning signals are desired, additional receiving equipment will be provided at each of the fire houses and sending equipment will be required at the Fire Mutual Aid Headquarters in Kingston.

SINCE THE SAME base station locations will be used should the sheriff's department, highway department and Civil Defense enter into the radio plan, the company recommends that it would be to the county's advantage to make both installations at the same time. In any event the housing for the equipment and the provision of commercial power should be large enough to take care of both systems.

Over a period of some time volunteer fire companies have petitioned the board of supervisors for two way radio in order that the mutual aid system might become more efficient. Several proposals have been presented and studied but none until the present appears to have met with approval of the board. Among those who have worked and spent considerable time on the proposition of two way radio for the fire companies, was Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson who served as Ulster County Fire Co-ordinator.

Hunting, fishing, boating and ice cutting will be allowed on New York city's proposed new Cannonsville Reservoir according to the Catskill Mountain News which says that close to 150 dairy farms in the rich Delaware Valley are to be taken for the project. The hunting privilege is an innovation as prohibition of the sport is strictly enforced on other city preserves including the Ashokan.

"WELCOME HUDSON VALLEY FIREMEN"

Delisio . . .

Murphy has been in the fire service for 47 years, has been a volunteer for a total of 53 years and has served as chief of the department for more than 30 years.

At the conclusion of Murphy's talk, he was given a standing ovation by delegates and members present.

THE CONVENTION session was opened at the Elks Club this morning by James Locke, chairman of the local convention committee. The invocation was by the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, DD, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church.

The Kingston Concert Band, under the direction of Salvatore Castigilione, played the Star Spangled Banner and also offered a selection later in the program.

A MEMORIAL service for members was conducted with the Rev. J. Jack Sharkey, chaplain of the East End Company No. 2, New Hamburg, presiding. Soloists were Miss Mary Coughlin and John A. McCullough, both accompanied by Harry Maisenhelder.

Names of the departed members were read by Secretary Charles M. Fales of Haverstraw.

In his message, the Rev. Mr. Sharkey said that the hallmark of greatness is not privilege but devotion.

IN HIS ANNUAL report, Anthony Delisio, of Haverstraw, the association president, reported that although the association has not yet reached a membership of 2,000, that goal is "not too far distant." He thanked the Kingston volunteer firemen and city officials for the welcome extended to the association.

Mr. Delisio paid special tribute to Fire Captain William J. Geary who died Nov. 10, 1954 and who had worked very diligently to bring this year's convention to Kingston.

By 9 a. m. today, approximately 100 delegates had registered at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The large influx of visitors will come Saturday as members of 115 participating companies, plus bands, drum corps and other units arrive for the parade. Nearly 10,000 persons are expected to be in the line of march.

PRE-CONVENTION meetings scheduled on Wednesday included the 2 p. m. meeting of the board of directors of the Hudson Valley Firemen's Association at the Gov. Clinton Hotel, and a meeting at 8 p. m. at Wiltwyck Station of officers of the association with the local convention committee.

Gaily decorated business houses greeted the firemen, and this morning the festive atmosphere was enhanced by the appearance of the Kingston Concert Band, playing martial music in front of the Gov. Clinton Hotel as delegates registered. Further registration of delegates and members took place at 1 p. m. and will continue Friday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

Prior to the official opening of the convention, the delegates marched behind the Kingston Concert Band from the Gov. Clinton Hotel to the Elks Club, where sessions were held.

Remaining highlights on the convention program include a dance at the Elks Club tonight for delegates, members and their ladies.

Election of officers will take place Friday morning, with balloting from 10 a. m. until noon. Committee reports will also be submitted during the Friday morning session.

Friday afternoon the ladies will meet at the Masonic Club at 1 p. m. for an outing. Members and delegates will be entertained by the local committee at the state armory beginning at 8 p. m. A show at the Municipal Auditorium Friday night will feature stage, radio and TV stars.

The parade is scheduled to begin promptly at 2 p. m. Saturday.

WORKER SAVES BURIED BOSS — Thomas Whittaker, 44, bends over his boss, John Sullivan, 41, on a strtcher, after he rescued the boss from a trench cave-in, in Boston, June 15. Sullivan was buried for more than an hour until Whittaker, who says he had a "premonition" something might be wrong, drove six miles out of his way to check at the trench. On arrival he discovered Sullivan's hand protruding from debris in the ditch. (AP Wirephoto).

MRS. FRANK GALLO, the former Laura Dorothy DeCicco of 498 Delaware avenue, whose wedding took place Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's Church. (Sterling photo)

Miss Laura DeCicco, Frank A. Gallo Wed in St. Mary's

Miss Laura Dorothy DeCicco and Frank Anthony Gallo were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony held Sunday, at 3 p. m. in St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. DeCicco of 498 Delaware avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Rose Gallo of 40 Franklin street and the late Thomas Gallo.

Theodore Riccobono was organist for the ceremony, and Martin Kelly was soloist. White bows marked the pews, and white gladioli were floral decorations on the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace princess style with long tapered sleeves and a modified sweetheart neckline. Her bouffant skirt of tulle with lace insertions terminated in a cathedral train. She wore a scalloped French illusion veil which was secured by a princess crown of tulle leaves trimmed with iridescent sequins and pearlized orange blossoms.

Miss Teresa J. DeCicco, sister of the bride, was honor attendant. She wore a gown of nile green crystallette fashioned with a tulip bodice, long torso and a bouffant floor length skirt. She wore a matching spencer jacket and a large picture hat of crystallette and nylon net, and carried a cascade bouquet of pink majestic daisies.

The attendants were Mrs. Louis Charmello, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Anthony Candello, sister of the bride, and Miss Ruth Gallo, sister of the bridegroom. Their gowns were in identical style to that of the honor attendant, with Mrs. Charmello's in azure blue, Mrs. Candello's in pastel pink and Miss Gallo's in maize. Mrs. Charmello carried a cascade bouquet of yellow majestic daisies, Mrs. Candello of pale green, and Miss Gallo of blue.

Miss Majorie Ann Candello, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor length gown of white nylon net over taffeta with pink rosebuds and a matching picture hat, and carried a small cascade bouquet of pale pink daisies.

John Gallo served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Anthony Candello, brother-in-law of the bride, Louis Charmello, cousin of the bride and Frank Spadafora, nephew of the bridegroom. Robert Charmello, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

A dinner was served to 300 guests at the Yacht Club following the ceremony.

For the wedding trip to Atlantic City, N. J., the bride chose a salmon linen coat dress with white accessories and a white orchid. On their return they will live at 40 Franklin street.

The bride is employed with International Business Machines, Kingston. The bridegroom is with Merritt, Chapman, Scott.

WHEN THE HOST OR HOSTESS PLAYS

A reader asks: "When entertaining in one's own house, is it proper for the host, or hostess, to play the piano or any other musical instrument, without first being asked to do so by one of the guests? I have heard different opinions on this and would like to be enlightened as to the correct thing."

A host, or hostess, should not play unless encouraged by the guests to do so—or unless the guests were invited especially to hear either one of them play.

Impersonal Wedding Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and would like to know what the correct wording should be for my wedding invitations under the following circumstances: My mother is not living and my father and I are almost complete strangers. He is not even coming to my wedding. I haven't any other near relative. Must my father's name appear on the invitations even though he will have nothing to do with it?

Answer: If your father will not be present at the wedding his name cannot appear on the invitations. Under the circumstances you describe, the invitations would best be worded in this way:

The honour of your presence is requested
at the marriage of Miss Mary Jane Smith
to
Mr. Henry Worthington
etc.

Say What Comes Naturally

Dear Mrs. Post: When a person is leaving the "wake" of a friend and the husband of the deceased says, "It was nice of you to come" or "Thank you for coming," what is the proper reply to make?

Answer: As a rule you give the person a warm hand clasp and say nothing, or perhaps you say, "I am so deeply sorry." Or if the deceased was a lifelong friend you might say, "I loved her dearly."

Miss Laura DeCicco, Frank A. Gallo Wed in St. Mary's

Miss Laura Dorothy DeCicco and Frank Anthony Gallo were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony held Sunday, at 3 p. m. in St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. DeCicco of 498 Delaware avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Rose Gallo of 40 Franklin street and the late Thomas Gallo.

Theodore Riccobono was organist for the ceremony, and Martin Kelly was soloist. White bows marked the pews, and white gladioli were floral decorations on the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace princess style with long tapered sleeves and a modified sweetheart neckline. Her bouffant skirt of tulle with lace insertions terminated in a cathedral train. She wore a scalloped French illusion veil which was secured by a princess crown of tulle leaves trimmed with iridescent sequins and pearlized orange blossoms.

Miss Teresa J. DeCicco, sister of the bride, was honor attendant. She wore a gown of nile green crystallette fashioned with a tulip bodice, long torso and a bouffant floor length skirt. She wore a matching spencer jacket and a large picture hat of crystallette and nylon net, and carried a cascade bouquet of pink majestic daisies.

The attendants were Mrs. Louis Charmello, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Anthony Candello, sister of the bride, and Miss Ruth Gallo, sister of the bridegroom. Their gowns were in identical style to that of the honor attendant, with Mrs. Charmello's in azure blue, Mrs. Candello's in pastel pink and Miss Gallo's in maize. Mrs. Charmello carried a cascade bouquet of yellow majestic daisies, Mrs. Candello of pale green, and Miss Gallo of blue.

Miss Majorie Ann Candello, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor length gown of white nylon net over taffeta with pink rosebuds and a matching picture hat, and carried a small cascade bouquet of pale pink daisies.

John Gallo served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Anthony Candello, brother-in-law of the bride, Louis Charmello, cousin of the bride and Frank Spadafora, nephew of the bridegroom. Robert Charmello, cousin of the bride, was ring-bearer.

A dinner was served to 300 guests at the Yacht Club following the ceremony.

For the wedding trip to Atlantic City, N. J., the bride chose a salmon linen coat dress with white accessories and a white orchid. On their return they will live at 40 Franklin street.

The bride is employed with International Business Machines, Kingston. The bridegroom is with Merritt, Chapman, Scott.

George Muller, pastor of St. Matthew Lutheran Church, Lyndhurst, N. J., and the Rev. Ernest Kunsch, pastor of St. Matthew Lutheran Church, Albany, will be the devotional leaders.

At each convention a spiritual project is selected for the coming year. The spiritual project to be considered for the next year is, "Women Who Served With Gladness." Details of the project have been developed by Mrs. Sophie Seils of Boston, Mass. Past spiritual projects have been the Family Altar, a personal mission endeavor—"Each One Reach One," and Techniques in Testifying.

The Hindu flood story resembles that of the Christians and the Hinda Noah is named Manu.

Laugh-Hit Opens Summer Season At Hyde Park

The laugh-hit of two years on Broadway, "King of Hearts," was the perfect choice for the opening of the second season of the Hyde Park Playhouse Tuesday evening. With a cast headed by Broadway stars, the production proved that the playhouse across the river will continue to bring first-rate theatre to the Mid-Hudson valley.

By Jean Kerr and Eleanor Brooke, "King of Hearts" boasts line after line of witty, fast-paced dialougue. The offering answers the audience's request of last season for the lavish scheduling of comedies during the summer, George Quick and Polly Jo McCulloch, co-producers, explained between acts. And the first-night audience enjoyed every minute of it judging from the laughter in the filled to capacity house.

The public also indicates a preference for the "star system," and the Playhouse obliged again.

APPEARING in the leading role of the cartoonist whose words and deeds are the opposite of his world-conscious comic strips, is the Broadway and Hollywood star, Albert Dekker. Sporting mustache and beard, the tall handsome actor gave a convincing performance as Larry Larkin.

In her first role as resident leading lady at the Playhouse is Miss Jocelyn Brando, petite veteran of many Broadway roles.

John Conwell, who also will be at the Playhouse as a resident member, is seen as Dignan, the "ghost" cartoonist for Larkin.

Another resident member, Charles V. White, enjoys his role as Joe Wickes, the cartoonist's employer, as much as the audience does.

OUTSTANDING in his part as the orphan boy adopted by Larkin's fiance, is seven and a half year old Ian Tucker. Seen on Broadway in the part of the "boy with glasses" in Peter Pan, the youngster is thoroughly at home on stage with pantomine or lines.

Also in the cast were Katchie Torrence, Gregory Lafayette, Richard B. Shull, Robert McCoid Hodge, and Harry Williams.

Fred Sadoff, who is with Actors Studio in New York, directed the play.

The modern studio-apartment which provided such a luxurious background for the action, was designed by Edgar Lansbury.

"King of Hearts" will continue through Saturday at the Playhouse, curtain at 8:30 p. m.

The sessions will be held in New York today and Friday.

George Muller, pastor of St. Matthew Lutheran Church, Lyndhurst, N. J., and the Rev. Ernest Kunsch, pastor of St. Matthew Lutheran Church, Albany, will be the devotional leaders.

At each convention a spiritual project is selected for the coming year. The spiritual project to be considered for the next year is, "Women Who Served With Gladness." Details of the project have been developed by Mrs. Sophie Seils of Boston, Mass. The Hindu flood story resembles that of the Christians and the Hinda Noah is named Manu.

Laugh-Hit Opens Summer Season At Hyde Park

The laugh-hit of two years on Broadway, "King of Hearts," was the perfect choice for the opening of the second season of the Hyde Park Playhouse Tuesday evening. With a cast headed by Broadway stars, the production proved that the playhouse across the river will continue to bring first-rate theatre to the Mid-Hudson valley.

By Jean Kerr and Eleanor Brooke, "King of Hearts" boasts line after line of witty, fast-paced dialougue. The offering answers the audience's request of last season for the lavish scheduling of comedies during the summer, George Quick and Polly Jo McCulloch, co-producers, explained between acts. And the first-night audience enjoyed every minute of it judging from the laughter in the filled to capacity house.

The public also indicates a preference for the "star system," and the Playhouse obliged again.

APPEARING in the leading role of the cartoonist whose words and deeds are the opposite of his world-conscious comic strips, is the Broadway and Hollywood star, Albert Dekker. Sporting mustache and beard, the tall handsome actor gave a convincing performance as Larry Larkin.

In her first role as resident leading lady at the Playhouse is Miss Jocelyn Brando, petite veteran of many Broadway roles.

John Conwell, who also will be at the Playhouse as a resident member, is seen as Dignan, the "ghost" cartoonist for Larkin.

Another resident member, Charles V. White, enjoys his role as Joe Wickes, the cartoonist's employer, as much as the audience does.

OUTSTANDING in his part as the orphan boy adopted by Larkin's fiance, is seven and a half year old Ian Tucker. Seen on Broadway in the part of the "boy with glasses" in Peter Pan, the youngster is thoroughly at home on stage with pantomine or lines.

Also in the cast were Katchie Torrence, Gregory Lafayette, Richard B. Shull, Robert McCoid Hodge, and Harry Williams.

Fred Sadoff, who is with Actors Studio in New York, directed the play.

The modern studio-apartment which provided such a luxurious background for the action, was designed by Edgar Lansbury.

"King of Hearts" will continue through Saturday at the Playhouse, curtain at 8:30 p. m.

Cardinal Spellman to Officiate on Sunday At Dedication of New Academy of St. Ursula

Dedication of the new Academy of St. Ursula building at Marygrove on Sunday, June 19, at 2 p. m., at which Francis Cardinal Spellman will officiate, marks the opening of the observance of the 350th anniversary year of Society of St. Ursula of the Blessed Virgin in the United States.

An eyewitness said as the subs were about to move off, the explosion rocked the Sidon "and clouds of smoke shot up from the front of her."

"She lay on the surface for about 30 minutes, but then nosedived as the forward position was flooded," this witness reported. "Men jumped from her decks into the sea. Tugs raced to the scene and a diver went down but by that time he was completely submerged."

Those who jumped overboard were picked up by rescue craft.

Lt. Col. Allan L. Hanstein, director of the Kingston-Ulster Civil Defense Council, said the city had done "beautifully."

HE AND Undersheriff Clayton W. Vredenberg toured the city during the alert, finding "no evidence of non-compliance." He said the citizens "should be complimented."

Maj. Edgar H. Timmerman, deputy director, said the public had done a "marvelous job." Within eight minutes of the Red Alert the local headquarters had notified all but two of the county's townships. He said observers had reported 100 per cent public participation. Maj. Timmerman also complimented the New York Telephone Company which, he said, had "really put out" to get the calls through promptly and effectively.

Acting Mayor Joseph Kelly expressed his appreciation for public cooperation in the test, pointing out that it demonstrated "people really feel that an alert can happen any time in these days of pressure."

HE WAS "very pleased with the way the various forces manned their posts" and the cooperation of industry which, in some cases, even ceased operation during the test. Mr. Kelly paid special tribute to the police, fire forces, auxiliary police and others.

"The success of the test alert justified the existence of the observer post on the Governor Clinton Hotel which has been manned around the clock by the forces of Mrs. Dewey Logan, director of the Kingston Ground Observer Corps." Mr. Kelly also paid tribute to the teen-agers who have volunteered their services as spotters, demonstrating their interest "in patriotism and the nation's defense."

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren said he had toured the city during the alert, that public cooperation had been excellent. "Everybody stopped, even in areas where there were no policemen."

The test appeared quite effective in the uptown section of the city, as observed from the Uptown Freeman office. Three or four people who inadvertently entered the streets during the Red Alert were immediately cautioned and withdrew into doorways.

Bushels of Nostaglia

Memphis, Tenn. (AP) — Nostalgia by the bushel poured from the ceiling of fire station 14 when it was reconditioned. About 10 bushels of oats tumbled down when the embossed metal ceiling of the 45-year-old building was ripped off. The grain had sifted down through cracks in the loft floor through the years when the oats were stored there for the fire horses.

The HUNCH is a manufacturer who says advertising is an art — so why try to be scientific about it?

He bets on horses by the sound of their names, draws to inside straights, and always uses a putter when driving off a tee.

He's an amateur's amateur.

Fortunately, the HUNCH is a rare creature. Most advertisers realize that there is a degree of science in all human endeavors — and advertising is no exception.

Most manufacturers carefully weigh their markets and advertise accordingly. They watch their competition closely — and throw in shock troops when sales are threatened. They time campaigns to meet seasonal opportunities. They saturate markets to gain sales supremacy.

Naturally, they use newspapers. Because with newspapers they can pin-point any market, really cover any market. More so now than ever before . . . because U. S. daily newspaper circulation is highest in history — 55,072,480.

Their national advertising starts at the local level — in newspapers!

King and Court Blank All Stars, 5-0, Before 1,500 at Stadium

Eddie Feigner Fans 16 Batters in Arclighter

It was the same old Eddie Feigner, bewildering, bemusing and bewitching last night at Dietz Stadium.

The famed pitcher and manager of the fabulous King and His Court blanked the City League All Stars, 5 to 0, while fanning 16 in the seven inning game.

THE FOUR-MAN aggregation played before another large crowd, with some 1500 or more patrons of the sport filing into the stadium for a solid boxoffice promotion by the 50 Club.

Feigner fanned the side in the first and second innings and got two other victims in each of the other five frames. Few among the large turnout doubted he could not have made it 21 if he bore down all the way.

TONY MUSTO, the stocky All Star catcher, accounted for both Kingston hits with a double in the second and single in the fourth. Tony walked in the sixth for a perfect performance at the plate.

Starter Joe Venuti and Frank Boyce pitched creditably for the All Stars but a jittery defense gave the Court several unearned runs. Meade Kinzer, the Court catcher, led his club with three singles.

The play was only incidental to Feigner's all-around showmanship. He pitched in orthodox fashion, blind folded, kneeling and tried a couple batters from second base.

BESIDES the seven-inning game, the Court staged a running exhibition of pantomine and clowning, a hilarious skit and Feigner gave a demonstration of the development of softball pitching technique. It was a rather enjoyable evening for the crowd that looked on in perfect weather.

PRESS BOX NOTES: Credit the 50 Club with anotheer fine promotion . . . Except for a couple of jittery defensive lapses the locals made a good showing, far superior to the haphazard game staged last year . . . Cliff Davis made a dazzling stop on Feigner in the seventh. Bud Leininger had a rough night, muffing a fly ball and getting victimized for strikeouts by Feigner when the latter was pitching blindfolded and from second base . . . Bill Haber, Ken Steltz, Leininger and Champ Holstein found Feigner's stuff postively dazzling, striking out three times each . . . Neither Kingston pitcher recorded a K . . . The turnout proved once again that a solid novelty attraction will lure fans through the turnstiles . . . The 50 Club has announced another stellar softball attraction, the California Cuties for Aug. 14. Biggest laugh of the night occured when Tony Musto switched from catcher to second base and tried to corral Jerry Jones' pop fly behind second in the eighth. Tony gave it a great try but couldn't find the handles.

Barons Still Lose Despite More Fans

(By The Associated Press)

Wilkes-Barre's Barons don't seem to be headed anywhere, either in the Eastern League or to some other city.

Faced with loss of the franchise if attendance didn't pick up this month, 2,035 Wilkes-Barre Fans turned out last night only to see the Barons drop their third straight to Reading, 6-1.

THE BARONS, sunk in sixth only a half game ahead of Elmira, trail front-running Williamsport by 10 games. But transfer of the 1954 regular-season champions to Johnstown, Pa., may not come off if the attendance keeps up. A season-high crowd of 5,134 saw Tuesday night's game, promoted by a supermarket chain.

Williamsport, defeating host Allentown 8-7, stayed 1½ lengths ahead of Binghamton, which shaded Schenectady 4-3 on Sammy Suplizio's 17th homer.

Elmira stopped a three-game losing streak and kept out of the cellar by downing Albany, 4-3. The Senators had won four in a row.

Indians Get Woodling, Cox; Chicago Buys Byrd

By ORLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press

The Cleveland Indians, battling to retain their American League champion title, and the cellar-dwelling Baltimore Orioles produced the only important deal as the major league deadline for trades passed at midnight last night.

The Indians, seeking reserve strength, acquired veteran outfielder Gene Woodling and utility infielder Billy Cox, an ex-Brooklyn Dodger, in exchange for a pair of veteran utility outfielders — Wally Westlake and Dave Pope—and a bundle of cash.

A HITCH DEVELOPED, however, when Cox went to his home in Newport, Pa. Billy was reported to have said he didn't want to report to the Indians. Paul Richards, Oriole general manager, said he didn't know what was wrong with Cox.

Hank Greenberg, Indians general manager, was trying to reach the third baseman by telephone last night. Cox has 72 hours to report.

The Orioles, in another deal, sold Harry Byrd, righthanded pitcher, to the Chicago White Sox for an undisclosed amount of cash but in excess of the $10,000 waiver price.

IN DEALING OFF Woodling and Byrd, the Orioles let go two more of the nine players they obtained from the Yankees last winter in the deal that sent Bob Turley, among others, to New York. The Orioles purchased Cox with Preacher Roe from Brooklyn for an estimated $55,000 and two minor league players last winter. The departure of Woodling and Byrd leaves only four of the original nine Yankees still with Baltimore.

The Detroit Tigers, apparently giving up hopes of dealing with the Yankees, acquired veteran first baseman Earl Torgeson from the Philadelphia Phillies for an estimated $25,000. The Tigers were desperately in need of a first sacker since both Ferris Fain and Jack Phillips are hobbled by knee injuries.

To make room for Torgeson, the Tigers sent Leo Cristante, a righthanded relief pitcher, to Buffalo on option.

OTHER TRANSACTIONS:

The Cleveland Indians signed Ted Gray as a free agent, Gray, who saw action against Washington last night, was released last month by the Chicago White Sox because of a sore arm.

The St. Louis Cardinals swapped two pitchers with their Rochester and Houston farm clubs. Floyd Wooldridge, who hurled a one-hitter for Houston, and Mel Wright of Rochester were recalled. To make room the Cards optioned Herb Moford to Rochester and Barney Schultz to Houston.

Pittsburgh shipped third baseman George Freese and pitcher Ben Wade to Hollywood and brought up southpaw Lino Donoso from the Pacific Coast League club.

The Phillies purchased pitcher Ronnie Negray from St. Paul and threw in Dave Cole, an erratic pitcher.

The Chicago Cubs purchased Owen Friend, a utility infielder, from Louisville.

Two days ago the Brooklyn Dodgers sought to strengthen their outfield and pinch hitting crew by obtaining Bob Borkowski from Cincinnati as completion of the deal that sent Joe Black to the Redlegs.

Decision Is Due Friday for Site Of Winter Games

1956 Contests Will Be in Australia

Paris, June 16 (AP)—The International Olympic Committee today awarded the 1960 summer games to Rome.

The voting—most important in the world of sports — was taken as the climax of the week long IOC meetings in the Cercle Interallie, an international house in the heart of Paris.

LOSING CITIES were Lausanne, Switzerland; Budapest, Brussels, Detroit, Tokyo and Mexico City.

A decision of the winter games will be reached tomorrow.

The 1956 games will be in Australia. In accordance with an unwritten Olympic rule that summer games must be in Europe at least two thirds of the time, the return to Europe was almost a foregone conclusion.

ROME IS BELIEVED unofficially to have won on the third ballot. An unofficial tabulation gave Rome 15 on the first ballot, Lausanne, 14; Budapest, 18; Mexico City, 6; Detroit, 6; and Tokyo, 4.

Tokyo, with the fewest votes, was dropped out, according to an unofficial report, after this first round of voting. On the second ballot Rome was believed to have received 27—two short of an absolute majority of the 57 members present. Lausanne was believed to have received 20 votes.

IT WAS NOT possible to determine whether Detroit and Mexico City were dropped after the first ballot, in addition to Tokyo, or after the second ballot.

On the third and last ballot unofficial figures gave Rome 35 votes to 24 for Lausanne. The meeting lasted an hour and a half.

Wins by Length

Westbury, N. Y., June 16 (AP)—Leopold Hanover, a leading Hambletonian eligible, scored a length victory over Sister Song in 2:05 3/5 last night at Roosevelt Raceway in the Sag Harbor trot. Home Free was third. The winner, owned by Charlotte Devan of Hanover, Pa., was driven by John Simpson and paid $3.90, $3.10 and $3.20.

Hercules Golf Ace to Compete In Herdegen

A brilliant newcomer to Ulster county golf will compete in the Father Herdegen Memorial tournament which starts Saturday at the Woodstock Country Club.

John T. Burych, a 2-handicap swinger who is employed as quality control engineer at the Hercules plant at Port Ewen, will make his first bid for the county amateur crown now held by George Hughes.

BURYCH IS A graduate of Juniata College where he was a member of the golf varsity and won the college title in 1949. That same year he was runnerup in the Pennsylvania Central Counties championship tournament.

Among the club titles won by Burych were the American Legion Country Club crown at Mt. Linion, Pa. and the Lewiston, Pa. in 1950.

Burych posted his career low of 67 on the par-70 Blacksburg Golf Club at Blacksburg, Va. He shot a 72 on the par-75 Mount Union, Pa. Club. He is not a member of any area club at the moment but expects to affiliate with the new Wiltwyck course next season.

Herdegen Tourney Schedule Friday

Pairings for the fifth annual Herdegen Memorial golf tournament will be published Friday. Play in the 54-hole medal tournament gets under way at 12 noon Saturday at the Woodstock Country Club.

Legion Changes Rules on Ages

Local American Legion Junior baseball officials have been notified of changes in the rule governing eligibility.

The new rule stipulates that any boy who reached his 17th birthday after Sept. 1, 1954, is still eligible to play.

Due to this change, registration will continue at Tommy Maines' Sport Shop Friday, Saturday and Monday for those in the eligible age group. Coach Eddie Bahl requests that 14-year-olds register.

Peacock Kayoes Macias in Third

Los Angeles, June 16 (AP)—With a jaw-fracturing left hook, Billy (Sweetpea) Peacock knocked out National Boxing Assn. bantamweight champion Raul (Raton) Macias in the third round last night.

Peacock, Los Angeles Negro, didn't gain the title, for it wasn't at stake, and that one devastating punch assuredly belayed the Sweetpea's chance of a rematch for the title, for X-rays show the right jawbone is broken in two places.

IT TOOK PEACOCK two rounds to discover there was no use boxing the Mexico City boy. Getting nowhere in the feint-and-jab business, he started a slugging bee in the third, and 2 minutes, 29 seconds later Macias was counted out.

Macias weighed 122¾, Peacock 121½. It was Macias' first defeat in 15 fights, Peacock's 25th victory against nine defeats. He earned a rematch for the title.

King and Court Blank All Stars, 5-0, Before 1,500 at Stadium

Eddie Feigner Fans 16 Batters in Arclighter

It was the same old Eddie Feigner, bewildering, bemusing and bewitching last night at Dietz Stadium.

The famed pitcher and manager of the fabulous King and His Court blanked the City League All Stars, 5 to 0, while fanning 16 in the seven inning game.

THE FOUR-MAN aggregation played before another large crowd, with some 1500 or more patrons of the sport filing into the stadium for a solid boxoffice promotion by the 50 Club.

Feigner fanned the side in the first and second innings and got two other victims in each of the other five frames. Few among the large turnout doubted he could not have made it 21 if he bore down all the way.

TONY MUSTO, the stocky All Star catcher, accounted for both Kingston hits with a double in the second and single in the fourth. Tony walked in the sixth for a perfect performance at the plate.

Starter Joe Venuti and Frank Boyce pitched creditably for the All Stars but a jittery defense gave the Court several unearned runs. Meade Kinzer, the Court catcher, led his club with three singles.

The play was only incidental to Feigner's all-around showmanship. He pitched in orthodox fashion, blind folded, kneeling and tried a couple batters from second base.

BESIDES the seven-inning game, the Court staged a running exhibition of pantomine and clowning, a hilarious skit and Feigner gave a demonstration of the development of softball pitching technique. It was a rather enjoyable evening for the crowd that looked on in perfect weather.

PRESS BOX NOTES: Credit the 50 Club with anotheer fine promotion . . . Except for a couple of jittery defensive lapses the locals made a good showing, far superior to the haphazard game staged last year . . . Cliff Davis made a dazzling stop on Feigner in the seventh. Bud Leininger had a rough night, muffing a fly ball and getting victimized for strikeouts by Feigner when the latter was pitching blindfolded and from second base . . . Bill Haber, Ken Steltz, Leininger and Champ Holstein found Feigner's stuff postively dazzling, striking out three times each . . . Neither Kingston pitcher recorded a K . . . The turnout proved once again that a solid novelty attraction will lure fans through the turnstiles . . . The 50 Club has announced another stellar softball attraction, the California Cuties for Aug. 14. Biggest laugh of the night occured when Tony Musto switched from catcher to second base and tried to corral Jerry Jones' pop fly behind second in the eighth. Tony gave it a great try but couldn't find the handles.

Barons Still Lose Despite More Fans

(By The Associated Press)

Wilkes-Barre's Barons don't seem to be headed anywhere, either in the Eastern League or to some other city.

Faced with loss of the franchise if attendance didn't pick up this month, 2,035 Wilkes-Barre Fans turned out last night only to see the Barons drop their third straight to Reading, 6-1.

THE BARONS, sunk in sixth only a half game ahead of Elmira, trail front-running Williamsport by 10 games. But transfer of the 1954 regular-season champions to Johnstown, Pa., may not come off if the attendance keeps up. A season-high crowd of 5,134 saw Tuesday night's game, promoted by a supermarket chain.

Williamsport, defeating host Allentown 8-7, stayed 1½ lengths ahead of Binghamton, which shaded Schenectady 4-3 on Sammy Suplizio's 17th homer.

Elmira stopped a three-game losing streak and kept out of the cellar by downing Albany, 4-3. The Senators had won four in a row.

High School Aces In JCC Tourney

Junior Chamber of Commerce officials expect entries from eight area high schools, including the DUSO champion KHS squad, for its tennis tournament Friday at Forsyth Park.

Play starts at 2 p. m. Friday, with players expected from New Paltz, Tannersville, Highland, Onteora, Hunter, Catskill and Ellenville.

Chairman Seymour Werbalowsky has announced that there will be two divisions. Division 1 is for boys who have not reached their 18th birthday prior to January 1, 1955, and Division 2 for boys who have not reached their 15th birthday prior to January 1, 1955.

161 Golfers Launch U.S. Open Play

San Francisco, June 16 (AP)—Golf's blue ribbon tournament, the 55th annual United States Open, gets underway today with 161 players launching a bid to win the crown worn by Ed Furgol, a man who may prove tough to dethrone.

Seventy-two holes of competition lay ahead of the field of 130 professionals and 32 amateurs, concluding with the exacting double round of 36 Saturday. Most of the experts predicted the winning score would be over par 280 for the route.

THE GREAT, the near great and the hopeful were entered, ranging from 58 year old Bobby Cruickshank of the old timer division, Ben Hogan of the present era to a 17-year-old youngster from Washingon, D. C., Beane Deman.

Few of the sideline observers could settle on a single favorite. The list of so-called solid threats included Furgol, the defending champion; Hogan, hoping to become the first golfer to win this event five times; Cary Middlecoff, Sam Snead, Byron Nelson, all of the established star ranks. Then there are Gene Littler, Mike Souchak, Bo Wininger and others of the younger men, as well as perhaps the leading amateur in the lineup, ex-British amateur champion, Harvie Ward Jr. of San Francisco.

THE ROLLING, tree-trimmed lake course of the Olympic Country Club measures a comparatively short 6,700 yards, with par 35-35—70. But the rough has been allowed to get extra rough. And trouble, at least in practice rounds earlier in the week, was not hard to find.

Furgol won the Open last year with a 4-over-par 284 at Baltusrol in New Jersey, and while the St. Louis pro could hardly be expected to win it twice in a row, he entered this one sharp after taking top money in the International event at Washington last Sunday.

YOUNG AND FANCY—Bob Purkey, left, and Ron Kline, both right-handers, are two prime products of Branch Rickey's youth movement at Pittsburgh. They are first-flight hurlers who figure to cause National League hitters trouble all year—while another crop of Buc hurlers, described as even better, ripens on the farm.

Tinney K's 10 in 3-1 Giant Win

The Giants eked through with a 3 to 1 victory over the Dodgers in the Esopus Little League Wednesday night with Jim Tinney besting Bob Dickenson in a duel of two-hitters.

Young Tinney backed up his sizzling mound exhibition with 10 strikeouts while his opponent fanned four.

THE GIANTS, who notched their fifth victory in six starts, pushed over two runs in the fourth and added a cushion run in the fifth. The Dodgers ruined Tinney's shutout bid with a lone marker in the sixth.

Rich Alexander and Rolf Kruckas collected the hits off Dickenson while Dickenson himself and Charlie Ashcroft hit safely for the Dodgers. Dickenson's double was the only extra base blow of the game.

Berg and Suggs Top Round Robin

Grossinger, N. Y., June 16 (AP)—Patty Berg, who moved into the national golf picture 20 years ago, and Louise Suggs, leading money winner of the year, carried a substantial lead into the third round of the $8,700 round robin tournament at the Grossinger Country Club today.

Miss Berg, from St. Andrews, Ill., had a score of plus 38 on a medal tally of 74-72—146. Miss Suggs, from Sea Island, Ga., was nine points back after turning in a 72-hole score of 72-75—147 over the 6,370-yard course.

IN THE round robin competition each of the 16 players meets all of the others with each member of a foursome matching her score against her opponents on a plus and minus basis.

Still on the right side of the ledger, in addition to the two leaders, are Marlene Bauer of Sarasota, Fla., plus 19; Jackie Pungs of Honolulu, former amateur champion, plus 14; Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C., plus 13 and Fay Crocker, Uruguay, plus 8.

THE SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

Manager Marty Marion's busier than a one-legged man in a sack race these days what with keeping his Chicago White Sox within range of the New York Yankees and holding off the Cleveland Indians.

He really had a workout last night, juggling players and shuffling pitchers while splitting a twi-night with Baltimore. The Sox lost the first 6-5, but won the nightcap 2-0. That put the Sox two games behind the American League leading Yanks, who lost to Detroit 8-6, and a length ahead of the Indians, who lost at Washington 7-0.

Trailing 5-4 in the first game, Marion pulled center fielder Minnie Minoso in to play third and moved third baseman George Kell to first in place of young Ron Jackson so he could keep pinch-hitter Bob Nieman in the game. Nieman, a long-ball threat, played left field.

NEIMAN WOUND up hitless, but Nellie Fox tied it at 5-5 with a homer. And when reliefer Millard Howell went 3-0 against Harry Dorish in the seventh, Marion brought on Sandy Consuegra to pitch. Sandy got out of the frame, but was tagged for a run-scoring single by Bobby Young in the eighth that broke a four-game Chicago winning string.

In the nightcap, Mike Fornieles breezed along for six innings on a 1-0 lead after Fox had swatted his second homer of the night. But when Fornieles issued his first walk to open the seventh, Marion called in Billy Pierce. And when Pierce faltered with a 2-0 lead in the eighth, Consuegra showed up again to pack it away.

BOSTON MADE IT seven out of eight in the other AL game, beating Kansas City 9-6.

In the National, Brooklyn lost to Cincinnati 5-2, but stayed 11½ games to the good as second place Chicago lost to New York's Giants 7-2.

St. Louis belted three home runs to beat Pittsburgh 7-3 and Philadelphia blanked the Milwaukee Braves 4-0.

BILLY HOEFT won his sixth while beating the Yankees, although needed relief help from Babe Birrer. The Tigers wrapped up their scoring with Jim Delsing and Frank House hitting back-to-back homers in a four-run fourth. Eddie Robinson homered twice for the Yanks.

Rookie Rudy Minarcin gave the Brooks four hits, and had them shut out on two safeties until the ninth, when Junior Gilliam homered after a walk. Carl Erskine was the loser as Gus Bell singled, doubled and homered for three of the Redleg runs. It was only the 14th defeat of the season for the Dodgers.

Five runs in the ninth broke up a 2-2 ball game for the Giants, with reliefer Paul Giel hitting a double to start the rally that brought his first major league victory. Paul Minner lost it as the Giants moved to within 1½ games of the Bruins.

Kryhoski's Bat May Be Columbus' Factor in Drive

(By The Associated Press)

The arrival of Dick Kryhoski in Columbus may turn out to be the big factor in the Jets' drive for a first division berth in the International League.

The big first baseman, recently acquired from the Kansas City Athletics, drove in three runs last night with a home run and a double to lead the Jets to a 4-3 victory over the Syracuse Chiefs.

IN OTHER GAMES the battle for first place remained unchanged with Toronto holding on to its ½-game lead over Montreal and Havana. The three leaders all went down to defeat. The Rochester Red Wings came from behind to whip Toronto 5-3. The Buffalo Bisons routed the Montreal Royals 8-4 and the Richmond Virginians stopped the Havana Sugar Kings from going into first place with a four-run rally in the ninth to edge the Cubans 6-5.

Kryhoski's double in the sixth inning off starter Jack Spring tied the score at 2-2. In the seventh, with the Chiefs on top 3-2, Kryhoski hit his first homer of the season off reliefer Lynn Lovenguth.

THE RED WINGS scored three unearned runs to take the four game series from the Maple Leafs 3-1. John Mackinson, the fourth of five Rochester pitchers, took the victory. It was his third in five decisions.

The Bisons used some timely hitting to overcome a four-run first inning by the Royals and salvage the final game of a three-game set.

Faces Tough Fight

London, June 16 (AP)—Reigning champion Jaroslav Drobny took a look at the draw for the all-England tennis tournament opening at Wimbledon Monday and said: "It's just what I hoped for." It sounded hard to believe. The veteran ex-Czech southpaw, rated No. 6 in the seedings, faces the toughest fight of any of the big names. If things work according to form, he would have to beat favored Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and two top Australians—Mervyn Rose and Lew Hoad, to reach the final.

Despite Knockouts

Pittsburgh — (NEA) — Bob Baker, mentioned as a September opponent for Rocky Marciano, has been flattened by Clarence Henry, Bob Satterfield and Archie Moore.

THE SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

Manager Marty Marion's busier than a one-legged man in a sack race these days what with keeping his Chicago White Sox within range of the New York Yankees and holding off the Cleveland Indians.

He really had a workout last night, juggling players and shuffling pitchers while splitting a twi-night with Baltimore. The Sox lost the first 6-5, but won the nightcap 2-0. That put the Sox two games behind the American League leading Yanks, who lost to Detroit 8-6, and a length ahead of the Indians, who lost at Washington 7-0.

Trailing 5-4 in the first game, Marion pulled center fielder Minnie Minoso in to play third and moved third baseman George Kell to first in place of young Ron Jackson so he could keep pinch-hitter Bob Nieman in the game. Nieman, a long-ball threat, played left field.

NEIMAN WOUND up hitless, but Nellie Fox tied it at 5-5 with a homer. And when reliefer Millard Howell went 3-0 against Harry Dorish in the seventh, Marion brought on Sandy Consuegra to pitch. Sandy got out of the frame, but was tagged for a run-scoring single by Bobby Young in the eighth that broke a four-game Chicago winning string.

In the nightcap, Mike Fornieles breezed along for six innings on a 1-0 lead after Fox had swatted his second homer of the night. But when Fornieles issued his first walk to open the seventh, Marion called in Billy Pierce. And when Pierce faltered with a 2-0 lead in the eighth, Consuegra showed up again to pack it away.

BOSTON MADE IT seven out of eight in the other AL game, beating Kansas City 9-6.

In the National, Brooklyn lost to Cincinnati 5-2, but stayed 11½ games to the good as second place Chicago lost to New York's Giants 7-2.

St. Louis belted three home runs to beat Pittsburgh 7-3 and Philadelphia blanked the Milwaukee Braves 4-0.

BILLY HOEFT won his sixth while beating the Yankees, although needed relief help from Babe Birrer. The Tigers wrapped up their scoring with Jim Delsing and Frank House hitting back-to-back homers in a four-run fourth. Eddie Robinson homered twice for the Yanks.

Rookie Rudy Minarcin gave the Brooks four hits, and had them shut out on two safeties until the ninth, when Junior Gilliam homered after a walk. Carl Erskine was the loser as Gus Bell singled, doubled and homered for three of the Redleg runs. It was only the 14th defeat of the season for the Dodgers.

Five runs in the ninth broke up a 2-2 ball game for the Giants, with reliefer Paul Giel hitting a double to start the rally that brought his first major league victory. Paul Minner lost it as the Giants moved to within 1½ games of the Bruins.

U. S. to Arrange

the United States including the U. S. Code of Military Justice for any wrongful act which he may have committed."

The State Department then will arrange for the return to the continental United States of any of these men who say they want to come home, the announcement said.

"UPON THE RETURN to the United States of any of these individuals," it added, "the appropriate federal authority will determine whether further action will be taken."

The announcement — issued while key government officials were dispersed from Washington on a special preparedness exercise—apparently was promoted by recent indications that two and perhaps eight of the former POWs now have had enough of Red China and want to come home.

Originally there were 23 American soldiers, taken prisoner during the Korean fighting, who refused to return to U. S. control after the armistice.

But two—Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson of Cracker's Neck, Va., and Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex.—later had a change of heart. They returned, but since have been convicted by army courts martial on collaboration charges. Both were given long prison sentences.

A third, Sgt. Rufus O. Douglas of San Angelo, Tex., was reported by the Chinese Red Cross to have died a year ago. The government apparently does not consider this as sufficient proof.

Recently, relatives reported receiving letters indicating that Cpl. Otho G. Bell of Olympia, Wash., and Cpl. Lewie W. Griggs of Jacksonville, Tenn., now want to return. And six other former POWs are listed by their relatives as writing that they hope to leave Red China for home some time in the future.

The joint announcement recalled a Jan. 25 statement by Secretary of Defense Wilson that the 21 were being dishonorably discharged from the army.

The government explained its action today was intended to further clarify their status.

The State Department then will arrange for the return to the continental United States of any of these men who say they want to come home, the announcement said.

"UPON THE RETURN to the United States of any of these individuals," it added, "the appropriate federal authority will determine whether further action will be taken."

The announcement — issued while key government officials were dispersed from Washington on a special preparedness exercise—apparently was promoted by recent indications that two and perhaps eight of the former POWs now have had enough of Red China and want to come home.

. Originally there were 23 American soldiers, taken prisoner during the Korean fighting, who refused to return to U. S. control after the armistice.

But two—Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson of Cracker's Neck, Va., and Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex.—later had a change of heart. They returned, but since have been convicted by army courts martial on collaboration charges. Both were given long prison sentences.

A third, Sgt. Rufus O. Douglas of San Angelo, Tex., was reported by the Chinese Red Cross to have died a year ago. The government apparently does not consider this as sufficient proof.

Recently, relatives reported receiving letters indicating that Cpl. Otho G. Bell of Olympia, Wash., and Cpl. Lewie W. Griggs of Jacksonville, Tenn., now want to return. And six other former POWs are listed by their relatives as writing that they hope to leave Red China for home some time in the future.

The joint announcement recalled a Jan. 25 statement by Secretary of Defense Wilson that the 21 were being dishonorably discharged from the army.

The government explained its action today was intended to further clarify their status.

Firm . . .

ily by large strides. Today, IBM employs 50,000 people, and has branch offices in 188 U. S. cities. The extensive business outside the United States—IBM products are marketed in 79 countries—is handled by the IBM World Trade Corporation.

IBM'S BROAD research and development program is directed by some of the world's leading scientists. It is staffed by top-flight engineers and technicians who work at laboratories located in New York state and California.

"IBM'S phenomenal growth under the leadership of Mr. Watson, is no accident. It has been achieved by the priceless combination of constant pioneering, progressive policies, and outstanding people in every field. It is a growth based on service to our customers—on the basic premise that IBM machines must make a profit for our customers. Now, IBM is looking forward to even greater expansion—expansion which promises a bright and almost limitless future for the person with ability, initiative and enthusiasm.

"AT THE PRESENT. time, IBM is conducting extensive research and development programs at its four modern engineering laboratories located at Endicott and Poughkeepsie, New York; San Jose, California and New York city. We have six manufacturing plants which are located in Endicott, Poughkeepsie and Kingston, New York; San Jose, California, Washington, D. C.; and Greencastle, Indiana. Seventeen other manufacturing and assembly plants are located in Canada, South America, Europe and the Far East. The administration center of this world-wide corporation is located at 590 Madison avenue, New York city."

Mr. Cullen said the various fields of endeavor and opportunity in IBM could be divided into six different areas of the business—Sales, research, development or production engineering, customer engineering, manufacturing, applied science and business administration.

"All IBM sales executives and many other IBM executives started as salesmen, and the progress of a salesman is limited only by his initiative, ingenuity and ability," Mr. Cullen said.

He pointed out that similar opportunities were to be found in the other fields.

ROBERT S. SMITH

B. N. Ashton, president, Electrol Incorporated, manufacturer of aircraft and industrial hydraulic devices, 85 Grand street, announces the appointment of David H. Page as vice president in charge of production and Robert S. Smith as quality control manager.

Mr. Page, originally a resident of Spokane, Wash., attended both the University of Washington and the University of Gonzaga, studying business engineering. All Peron . . .

the church over its communicants in Argentina.

Peron and his late wife, Eva, at one time received papal decorations. Even before the two prelates were expelled yesterday Vatican sources had said the Argentine president was dangerously close to excommunication.

TODAY'S VATICAN text said:

"As in recent times in the Republic of Argentina the rights of the church have been hampered in various ways, and violence has been done to ecclesiastical persons, furthermore, as some have dared to place hands upon the person of Manuel Tato, titular bishop of Aulon and auxiliary bishop and vicar general of the archdiocese of Buenos Aires,

"And as they have prevented him from the exercise of his jurisdiction, and have expelled him from the territory of Argentina, the Sacred Consistorial Congregation declares and admonishes:

"That all those who have committed such crimes, be they those who ordered that such crimes be committed, whatever rank they hold, and the necessary accomplices, or be they those who have induced the doing of such crimes—crimes which would not have been committed without their participation—have incurred excommunication in Latae Sententiae . . . and have incurred all the other penalties according to their respective crimes as prescribed by the Sacred Canons."

Firm . . .

ily by large strides. Today, IBM employs 50,000 people, and has branch offices in 188 U. S. cities. The extensive business outside the United States—IBM products are marketed in 79 countries—is handled by the IBM World Trade Corporation.

IBM'S BROAD research and development program is directed by some of the world's leading scientists. It is staffed by top-flight engineers and technicians who work at laboratories located in New York state and California.

"IBM'S phenomenal growth under the leadership of Mr. Watson, is no accident. It has been achieved by the priceless combination of constant pioneering, progressive policies, and outstanding people in every field. It is a growth based on service to our customers—on the basic premise that IBM machines must make a profit for our customers. Now, IBM is looking forward to even greater expansion — expansion which promises a bright and almost limitless future for the person with ability, initiative and enthusiasm.

"AT THE PRESENT time, IBM is conducting extensive research and development programs at its four modern engineering laboratories located at Endicott and Poughkeepsie, New York; San Jose, California and New York city. We have six manufacturing plants which are located in Endicott, Poughkeepsie and Kingston, New York; San Jose, California, Washington, D. C.; and Greencastle, Indiana. Seventeen other manufacturing and assembly plants are located in Canada, South America, Europe and the Far East. The administration center of this world-wide corporation is located at 590 Madison avenue, New York city."

Mr. Cullen said the various fields of endeavor and opportunity in IBM could be divided into six different areas of the business—Sales, research, development or production engineering, customer engineering, manufacturing, applied science and business administration.

"All IBM sales executives and many other IBM executives started as salesmen, and the progress of a salesman is limited only by his initiative, ingenuity and ability," Mr. Cullen said.

He pointed out that similar opportunities were to be found in the other fields.

All Peron . . .

the church over its communicants in Argentina.

Peron and his late wife, Eva, at one time received papal decorations. Even before the two prelates were expelled yesterday Vatican sources had said the Argentine president was dangerously close to excommunication.

TODAY'S VATICAN text said: "As in recent times in the Republic of Argentina the rights of the church have been hampered in various ways, and violence has been done to ecclesiastical persons, furthermore, as some have dared to place hands upon the person of Manuel Tato, titular bishop of Aulon and auxiliary bishop and vicar general of the archdiocese of Buenos Aires,

"And as they have prevented him from the exercise of his jurisdiction, and have expelled him from the territory of Argentina, the Sacred Consistorial Congregation declares and admonishes:

"That all those who have committed such crimes, be they those who ordered that such crimes be committed, whatever rank they hold, and the necessary accomplices, or be they those who have induced the doing of such crimes—crimes which would not have been committed without their participation—have incurred excommunication in Latae Sententiae . . . and have incurred all the other penalties according to their respective crimes as prescribed by the Sacred Canons."
